50 Lb. Russian Cabbages. Encouragement for Ladies. Labor Union Samurai. Ships for Sale.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

RUSSIA PROVIDES interesting news daily.

The truthful Walter Duranty cables Adolph S. Ochs that Russia using "extra rich fertilizers" raises giant vegetables. 50-pound cabbages, tomatoes weighing 2 to 3 pounds each, egg plants one yard and a half long with plants 20 feet high, tobacco 6 feet high with 150 leaves to each stem, 7 tons of dried leaf to the acre.

SOME OF THE vegetables are grown on frameworks high above the weeds. The intensive fertilizing costs $350 an acre, but lasts five years, about $70 per acre.

And the South will want to know that the Russian Burbank named Zolotof has produced an average of five tons of cotton to an acre, and our wheat and cotton yesterday dropped to new low prices.

THE MUSCLE SHOALS commission on September 1 will receive bids for "lease and operation in the interests of fertilizer production and of agriculture."

Selling to farmers at a reasonable price such concentrated fertilizers as they use in Russia, instead of compelling farmers to pay freight on several hundred pounds of worthless stuff in order to get one hundred pounds of fertilizer mixed with it, might be Bolshevism, but it is the kind that would suit the farmer.

CHAPIN COLLINS, editor of the Montesano Vidette, of Montesano, Washington, sends this to encourage ladies:

Years ago William Moore married a lady sixteen years older than he. People said:

"Too bad, he will have to take care of her when she is old."

Mr. Moore is now 84. His wife, who celebrated her 100th birthday on July 26, is taking care of him, an invalid.

She does all her housework, all the work in her vegetable and flower garden, and finds life more interesting than ever.

HER FATHER was a French-Canadian trader with the Hudson Bay Company, her mother a Spokane Indian.

When she was born Britain and the United States were disputing the great Oregon country. California and the Southwest belonged to Mexico.

THE LADY has eight children, ten grandchildren, five great-grandchildren, three great-great-grandchildren by the first two of her four husbands.

TRANS-ATLANTIC ship lines issue new rates. First class to Europe $155 in winter, "third class" $72.

"THIRD CLASS" might be left out of rates on American ships.

Kermit Roosevelt, son of the President, and his associate, Vincent Astor, and others, set a good example by running good ships to Europe all one class, fare $100.

WHETHER THEY make him President or not, the people will remember with admiration the news concerning Gov. Roosevelt, of New York.

A former victim of infantile paralysis, now fortunately recovered, Gov. Roosevelt has given to New York's Department of Health a pint of his blood to be used in combatting an outbreak of the dreadful infantile paralysis in New York City.

A serum made from the blood of those that have recovered from the disease is found to be the best remedy.

THE GOVERNMENT, having proved that running ships is one of several things that it does not know how to do, is about to dispose of some shipping. It is understood that Kermit Roosevelt and Vincent Astor, in the East, and a western group, the Dollar Line interests, Herbert Fleishhacker, of San Francisco, and others will make bids.

The government, of course, will make no sale that would, now or later, involve foreign control of these American ships or a foreign flag over them.

What the government doesn't know about ships has cost the people about $1,000,000,000.

But we know at least that we ought to have SOME ships.

RIOTING IN CHICAGO'S Negro quarter with several killings and 150,000 Chicago Negroes asking for protection, should cause hard thinking by those responsible for law and order.

WHEN THE EMPIRE State Building was dedicated in New York, Mr. Frederick Ecker, head of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, an able man, acquainted with American conditions, said the country was to be congratulated on having gone through two years of depression without violence."

Let us hope that condition will continue.

DISPATCHES FROM Chicago say "40,000 or 50,000 Negroes are enrolled as Communists," but the Communism is more or less imaginary, and the 50,000 definitions of the word would be enlightening. Unemployment and poverty provide a good seed bed for Communism, temporarily.

MERRITT STARR is dead in Chicago, aged 75. He was the lawyer representing Standard Oil, who set aside a $29,000,000 fine that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis ordered Standard Oil to pay. That looked like "big money" in those days, but almost any little Standard octopus could pay it now with ease.

Judge Landis now rules baseball, and his judgments cannot be set aside.

Coyne Files for Commissioner

FOES FIGHT ARMSTRONG ALLIANCE

Tieup Seen as Inevitable, But Enemies of Senator Spur Mansfield Drive

Petitions to place State Senator James J. Coyne's name on the Republican primary ballot as a candidate for County Commissioner were filed today with the County Election Bureau by Robert B. Averbach, solicitor in Sheriff Robert S. Cain's office.

Coyne's enemies are still working overtime to keep him and County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong from joining their candidacies but their efforts seem to be futile. They are trying to bring about a combination of Armstrong and State Senator William D. Mansfield.

APPEAL TO MELLON

In that conection it was reported that a group of "big business men" met last night to plan an onslaught on W. L. Mellon when he returns tomorrow and stampede him into demanding an Armstrong-Mansfield ticket.

However, Mellon is said to look with favor upon both Coyne and Armstrong and to believe that a solution of the present tangle would be to have them run together.

The two County Commissioner candidates on the "independent" ticket may not be announced until after August 17, when possible withdrawals and new entries would be known. There are vague rumors that former State Senator Cadwallader M. Barr may seek the nomination for County Commissioner with Commissioner C. C. McGovern as a running mate.

ALARM FAILURE CITED AT FIRE INQUEST

Peril in Wire Believed Used To Jump Power for Floor Scraper, Experts Testify

The private fire alarm system, consisting of lights and buzzers at the Little Sisters of the Poor Home for Aged, failed to work the night of the fire, July 24, testimony revealed today as the inquest into the 47 deaths in the disaster was continued.

Testimony that there had been tampering with the main electric switch box was given by Chief Clerk James L. Davidson of the Coroner's office. A wire "jumper," he said, had been found, which presumably had been used to increase the voltage for operation of an electric floor scraper.

Such a makeshift was described by three electrical engineers as equivalent to tearing down a safety valve on a steam boiler.

Sister Agatha, Mother Superior, and other nuns questioned by Coroner W. J. McGregor testified as to circumstances of the blaze. Sister Agatha said she had rung the alarm bell, but didn't think it worked. The lights failed to respond also, she testified.

ALARM SYSTEM FAILS

James L. Davidson, chief clerk to the Coroner, was the first witness called this afternoon. He made a personal investigation for the Coroner, Davidson testified.

"The investigation shows that the alarm system in the home, buzzers and lights, was out of order when the sisters attempted to use it. We cannot state positively, however, whether there was a defect in the system previous to the fire or whether the fire itself was

ICE AND FOG MAY FORCE CHANGE IN ROUTE

Coast Guard Cutter Unable to Reach Point Barrow Before Colonel, Wife Are Due

International News Service.

AKLAVIK, N. W. T., Aug. 5.—Flying on schedule, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife landed here in their Lockheed Sirius amphibian at 3:05 a. m. today (7:05 a. m. Pittsburgh time).

The flight from Baker Lake where they took off yesterday at 7:45 p. m. (Pittsburgh time), took slightly more than 11 hours.

They had scheduled Point Barrow, northernmost tip of Alaska, as the next stop on their vacation flight to Tokio, but it was doubtful when they would take off. A Coast Guard cutter, carrying supplies and fuel, was to meet them there, but ice conditions made it questionable when it would be able to reach the settlement.

TOWN SURPRISED

The Lindberghs surprised this town on the Mackenzie River as their plane swooped down from the skies. No word had been received here on the rim of the Arctic of the takeoff of the famous fliers from Baker Lake.

Dropping down from the murk of a northern twilight, Lindbergh and his wife were greeted by a chorus of howls from hundreds of husky dogs on the river bank.

DO-X Speeds on For N. Y. From Rio

Stops at Caravellas To Refuel, Then Hops for Bahia

By ROBERT GALT ASPINALL

International News Service.

(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

ABOARD THE SEAPLANE DO-X, Aug. 5.—Stopping at Caravellas, on the sandgirt Brazilian sea coast, only long enough to fill our ship's huge tanks with fuel and permit passengers and crew to eat a welcome hot luncheon, the DO-X swept northward toward Bahia this afternoon on its 100-mile-an-hour journey from Rio de Janeiro to New York.

The end of the first morning on the wing found the passengers enthusiastic, and full of praise for the gigantic seaplane's speed, comfort and quietness. Conversation in normal tones was possible in the spacious cabin, and the passengers, particularly the womenfolk, made good use of the opportunity.

Plunging out of Botofagos Bay off Rio with a rush and a roar, the DO-X circled the charming city several times and then headed out to sea, passing between the old colonial fort of Santa Cruz and Rio's massive sugar loaf mountain.

At 9:30 a. m., three hours after the take-off, we soared over Victoria. The trip to Caravellas was without incident.

Rugs Given Fliers By Istanbul Chief

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 5.—(INS.)—Russell Boardman and John Polando received two valuable Turkish rugs and other gifts from the Governor of Istanbul today in recognition of their record-breaking nonstop flight of more than 5,000 miles from New York to this city.

So far Boardman and Polando have made no definite announcement of their next move, but recently expressed a wish to fly to points in India.

Pangborn Rests Up For Tokio-U. S. Hop

MOSCOW, Aug. 5.—(INS.)—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, Jr., contemplating a nonstop flight from Tokio to Seattle, Wash., will remain a few days more at Khabarovsk, Siberia, to rest up for the long journey, according to word received here today.

Pangborn was reported somewhat ill from exhaustion and lack of sleep during their trans-Siberian flight.

Amy Johnson Lands In Korea; Goal Near

TOKIO, Aug. 5.—(INS.)—Making fast time on the final stages of her flight from London to Tokio, Miss Amy Johnson, British aviatrix, arrived at Seoul, Korea, from Mukden, at 7:38 a. m. (Tokio time) today.

STEEL SALARIES SLASHED

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Reductions ranging from 10 to 15 per cent, effective August 15, have been made by the United States Steel Corporation in the pay of all salaried employes.

The action carries out a recommendation made by the board of directors at its meeting last week. A statement issued at the close of the meeting said the board recommended an adjustment of salaries of all officers and other salaried employes be made in varying percentages, depending upon the character of the service rendered.

Wages were unaffected by the reduction.

About 1,200 salaried employes of the Carnegie Steel Company alone will be affected by the cut. Other subsidiaries of the Steel Corporation will account for an equal number in this district, making a total of about 2,400.

This follows the recent discharge of about 800 office employes by subsidiaries of the corporation in this district. Formal notices of the details of the cut have not been received. It is understood that salaries over $1,800 and under $5,000 a year will be cut 10 per cent, between $5,000 and $10,000 12½ per cent, and over $10,000 15 per cent.

'Battling Joe,' County's Boss, To Lick 'Em All

Pittsburgh fight promoters' worries as to where they can find a good local middleweight, now that Buck McTiernan apparently has hit the down grade, are solved by no less a person than County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, 64, but weighing 155 in fighting trim.

The matchmaker would have an easy time finding an opponent for, according to two witnesses, Armstrong yesterday announced he could lick anybody in McKees Rocks.

The trouble all started in the County Commissioners' meeting yesterday when Armstrong refused Commissioner Charles C. McGovern's request that books of

Gasoline Prices Cut Another Cent

Another slash in the price of gasoline, the second within a month, was announced by leading companies in this district today. The new price is 11 cents, plus the 3-cent tax, or 14 cents a gallon for motor fuel, the lowest in many years.

RESCUED UNDER CAR WHEELS

Three-year-old Betty McShane is in the Presbyterian Hospital today recovering from injuries sustained when struck by a street car near her home, 23 East Lacock street, last night.

Only prompt action on the part of Motorman Carl E. Weeks halted the car before it crushed her to death.

A green bathing suit worn by the child and the fact that the street car was coasting probably prevented her being fatally injured, according to Weeks. The child rolled under the car, and his eye caught the bright color. He promptly applied the brakes. Her body was within two inches of the power box when picked up.

Lewis M. McIntyre, city traffic engineer, today issued a warning that 8 to 9 a. m. and 5 to 6 p. m. are the most dangerous hours in traffic.

It is during these times, according to figures from the Bureau of Traffic Planning, which were cited by McIntyre, that most of the city's automobile and pedestrian accidents occur. So far this year, the statistics reveal, 231 pedestrians have been injured, 51 of them fatally.

McIntyre quoted figures to show that 60 per cent of all injured pedestrians over 65 years of age do not recover.

Judge, Aide of Ford In Big Suit, Suicide

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—(INS.)—Judge Alfred J. Murphy, dean of the jurists of Circuit Court and attorney for Henry Ford in his $1,000,000 suit against a Chicago newspaper from which Ford got six cents damages, died in the Charles Goodwin Jennings Hospital here today. According to the jurist's daughter, Margot, Judge Murphy shot himself earlier this morning.

2 Dead, Many Hurt In Express Wreck

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—(INS.)—The engineer and fireman were killed and several other members of the train crew and passengers were injured in the wreck of the Argonaut express near Yuma, Ariz., early today.

Edmund Lowe, Warner Baxter and Conchita Montenegro, film stars, were aboard the train, but escaped injury.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

FORBES FIELD, Aug. 5.—Larry French and Flint Rhem fought it out on the slab this afternoon in the first game of a bargain bill between the Pirates and Cardinals. Sweltering weather prevailed.

The humid day did not hold back the spectators to any great extent, more than 10,000 being in the stands for the first game.

Harry (Hi) Myers, of Minerva, formerly star outfielder of the Robins, visited with Burleigh Grimes and other pals of the diamond before the game started. Wilkins' Sub Heads for Pole

BERGEN, Norway, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Sir Hubert Wilkins' polar submarine Nautilus left Bergen this evening.

Sir Hubert Wilkins hopes to take the submarine Nautilus to the North Pole under the ice. She crossed the Atlantic under her own power except for a stretch over which she was towed by an American battleship when her engines failed. Repairs were made in Ireland and she reached Bergen last week.

If she goes on schedule she will reach the ice barrier in 10 days, including stops at Tromsoe and King's Bay for fuel.

Blue Law Protest Perils Fire Benefit Shows

Two Sunday shows for the benefit of the fund for the Little Sisters of the Poor Home for the Aged, swept by fire July 24, killing 47 aged and infirm inmates, hit an unexpected snag today.

Robert M. Blackwood, secretary of the Sabbath Association of Western Pennsylvania, filed a formal protest with Director James M. Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, holding the contemplated performances in violation of the antiquated laws of 1794—commonly known as the blue law.

Clark agreed with Blackwood and indicated that he would not issue a permit for the shows, planned in the Stanley and Penn theaters, downtown movie palaces, next Sunday night. He said:

"I have no objection to a charitable performance for such a cause, but no set charge may be assessed. A voluntary contribution may be asked."

Before taking formal action, however, Clark plans a conference with City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt. He said he also proposed a conference with the promoters of the show to see if they could not arrange for a week-day date. Clark said he was undecided whether he would permit the shows without a permit.

Blackwood, in his letter to Clark, holding the Sunday show in violation of the blue law, said:

"If such a performance is necessary it could be held on some week-day."

Edison Clinging to Life By Thread, Doctor Says

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Thomas A. Edison is held to life by only frayed strands of health, Dr. Hubert S. Howe told reporters today.

He said that although the 84-year-old inventor had showed marked and rapid improvement he was "not yet out of immediate danger." The physician declared:

"His condition is like the fraying out of an elevator rope. The elevator functions until the last strand breaks. The outside looks all right. All that is left for the engineer to do is to protect the last few strands."

The physician said Edison had a chance "of coming out of this and living for some time."

In the earlier stages of his illness, Dr. Howe said, the inventor had been unwilling to take any medicine until he had read all about it and studied its chemical reactions. But he had been so sick, the doctor added, that he was willing now to take the medicine first and read of its effects afterward.

Dr. Howe's morning bulletin, which he amplified in his talk with newspapermen, follows:

"Yesterday afternoon Mr. Edison took a short ride, and he did not seem to be unfavorably affected by it.

"He had a restless night, but despite this is bright and cheerful this morning and seems slightly improved."

"Were you able to determine whether the line used to work the floor scraper had been connected to the line running to this box containing the wire?"

ENGINEERS TESTIFY

Davidson replied:

"Because of the fire we were unable to determine that.

Davidson's testimony as to what likely would have become of the wire jumper was corroborated by three electrical engineers. M. Snyder of the Commercial Engineering C. B. Wright and E. ... avenue, Mt. Lebanon, and Fred B. Espenschade, 434 Oakland avenue.

They explained that a jumper or a safety device in the place of a wire had been used there would be the same as removing the safety valve from a steam boiler.

DESCRIBES HOME

Sister Agatha, the Mother Superior, was the first witness. She testified she had been Mother Superior since January, 1929.

Coroner McGregor asked her:

"What is the purpose of your home?"

"To take care of poor and destitute over 60 years of age without regard to color or creed."

"How many inmates were in the home on the night of the fire?"

"There were 235."

"How many of these were active?"

"About 190."

"How many were bedridden?"

"About 18 or 20."

"How many were blind?"

"Eight were totally blind."

NO ELEVATORS

"How many of those crippled ones could move about on the floor?"

"About 60."

"You have no elevators in the home?"

"No."

"The 60 you mentioned were not able to use the stairway?"

"They were not able."

"Who was on the third floor?"

"That was the women's floor. We had 13 old women near the chapel."

"Who was on the second floor? Were they able to help themselves?"

"They were able and did help themselves."

SAFETY PROVISIONS

"Were those on the third floor able to help themselves and to help others?"

"Most of them were able to help themselves and others also and to go up and downstairs."

"What emergency provisions have you at the home?"

"We kept the house in good shape, had fire equipment on every floor, fire hose and fire extinguishers. We had sisters to go around and see that everything was all right. We also had an electric bell system to call the sisters who were on watch at night."

"How many sisters watched at night?"

"Two."

"Now, Sister Agatha, tell us what happened on the night of the fire in your own words."

PUSHED ASIDE

"Everything was in good order at 9 o'clock, eastern standard time, when I retired. I was awakened shortly afterward by a noise and was told the house was on fire. Right away I went downstairs and rang the fire alarm. Then I tried to turn on the lights and found there were none. I then took women from the chapel floor and from the second floor out on the fire escapes. Just then so many firemen and others came in that I was pushed back. I could not even get to the men's side of the house. I tried my best but I was pushed back by officers."

"Did you ring an alarm in the house?"

"I did, but I don't think it worked and I tried to find lights but there were no lights."

"Were the lights out before the fire?"

"I could not say that."

"Were the doors or windows on the fire escapes locked?"

DOORS ALWAYS OPEN

"No, they were always open in the dormitories. In the nuns' rooms there was a small latch easily pushed open."

"Were exits locked?"

"All the gates were locked except the main gate, which is always open."

"What did you first see after you rang the alarm?"

"I saw flames on the side of the chapel. The fire came in front of the windows."

"How soon was there fire on the first floor?"

"Only a few minutes. I heard the crackling of glass as the fire broke the windows on the first floor."

WATCHER TESTIFIES

Sister Denise took the witness stand. She was one of the watchers. She said she was in a little room by the back door on the second floor.

She had difficulty understanding the Coroner's questions. He asked:

"Was this a room where you could lie down and sleep?"

"A bell rang if I was needed."

ESKIMOS CURIOUS

In the background Indians and Eskimos gathered to see the famous fliers about whom they had heard so much.

Both fliers looked fresh and cheerful despite the gruelling 1,100 miles of night flying over the Arctic wilderness. They supervised the mooring of the plane and then were taken over by the group of white people here who were ready to show them the hospitality of the Arctic.

Fog, Ice Delaying Lindy's Supplies

SEATTLE, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Blanketed by a dense fog 24 miles west of Icy Cape on the Arctic shore, the United States Coast Guard cutter Northland, carrying fuel for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their vacation trip to the Orient, today abandoned any hope of reaching Point Barrow in time to meet the fliers.

Coast Guard headquarters here were advised by the Northland that the fog, continuous for several days, prevents the vessel from finding a way through the ice of Blossom Shoals. Point Barrow is about 150 miles north of the cape.

Fliers Shun Tokio Try; Prefer Jail

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Reg Robbins and Harold Jones are resigned to their fate. Sheriff Wright, of Fort Worth, telegraphed them that if they came back without flying to Tokio he would put them in jail. Robbins said:

"We've decided to go to jail."

They will not try the flight again this year.

That rumor obviously is based on the assumption that Mansfield would run with Armstrong.

PARK OPPOSITION

The announcement yesterday of James F. Malone, secretary of property and supplies under Gov. Pinchot, that he would support Andrew T. Park for district attorney, while not unexpected, caused considerable tongue-wagging.

Many analyzed Malone's motive and the opinion was that he decided he had got all he could out of the Pinchot and "independent" following and would attempt to regain the place he held in the "regular" organization when he was leader of the Fifth Ward.

Malone declared in his announcement that he understood that Park would not have opposition, but unless all signs fail he will be disappointed because competent reports have it that Deputy Attorney General Ralph H. Smith, former ally of Malone's, will announce today or tomorrow as a candidate in opposition to Park.

OTHERS FILE

Nominating petitions were filed yesterday by A. E. McKeever, of Turtle Creek, for County Treasurer, and John J. Duffy, of 235 Carson street, for County Commissioner.

Thomas H. Hester, of 2630 Pioneer avenue, Dormont, former Democratic Jury Commissioner, has taken out nominating petitions for County Commissioner. Other Democratic entries for commissioner are David L. Lawrence, county chairman; Jury Commissioner Thomas A. Dougherty, who defeated Hester, William M. Turner, Burgess of Wilkinsburg, and Martin F. Howley. Lawrence and Dougherty probably will oppose Turner and Howley in the primary.

Star Charges Cruelty to 'Great Lover' of Films

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—The airplane elopement of Ina Claire, stage and screen actress, and John Gilbert, romantic movie actor, whose marriage was termed the "ideal romance," has crashed in the divorce courts.

The actress obtained the decree yesterday on a charge of mental cruelty, saying Gilbert told her they were temperamentally unsuited to each other and that he wanted to be left alone.

CROWD STORMS ROOM

Although a private hearing had been sought before Superior Judge Joseph Sproul, the news of the case became public and spectators trooped into the judge's chambers.

Miss Claire's low-voiced testimony followed closely the charges of the complaint, asserting a "course of habitual cruelty which resulted in great mental pain and suffering."

Gilbert, who eloped by airplane with Miss Claire, in May, 1929, to Las Vegas, Nev., did not attend the hearing.

"You say he requested you to leave home?" Judge Sproul asked.

GILBERT "MOODY"

Miss Claire whispered:

"He did. He said we were temperamentally unsuited to each other and he said he wanted to be left alone. He was very irritable and moody. He said I was a woman with too much intellect—whatever he meant by that."

The divorce ended the third marriage of Gilbert, and the second of the actress.

'LICK 'EM ALL,' —ARMSTRONG

township and borough Register of Assessors be laid open for inspection by taxpayer friends of McGovern. Armstrong said the books were being transcribed alphabetically and were not available.

After the meeting J. J. Driscoll, a member of the McKees Rocks Citizens' Committee, and Jack Katz, of 253 Butler street, Etna, stopped Armstrong as he left his office and demanded that they be shown the books.

According to Katz and Driscoll, Armstrong called the latter "vile names," threatened to strike him and then forced his way to the corridor announcing that he was ready to fight and able to lick anyone hailing from McKees Rocks, where a bitter independent campaign is being waged against his lone-time friend, Miles Bryan.

Roy Walters, secretary to Armstrong, denied the latter used force or attempted to strike his callers. He said Driscoll shoved Armstrong before he could step between them.

During the discussion in the Commissioners' meeting, Armstrong said to McGovern:

"If anyone wants to see those books, tell them to come and see me."

McGovern answered:

"Why in hell should they have to see you?"

Armstrong retorted:

"Well, why in the hell did they come to see you?"

And so ended another Commissioners' meeting.

FUNDS SOUGHT TO FIGHT VOTE LIST PADDING

Commissioners Balk Board's Application for $10,000; McGovern Protests Action

Registration commissioners today were considering methods of raising funds to continue the work of preventing vote list padding. Their request for $10,000 from the county was held up yesterday by County Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and Edward V. Babcock with C. C. McGovern protesting.

Addressing the Republican commissioners who approved before the County Controller yesterday to make their ... McGovern said:

"Go ahead with the work you have started. I'll get a crowd of people out on the street corners with baskets to collect the necessary money. I'll take a corner myself. The holding up of your request is a move to block the work of the Registration Commission.

HELPING HAND REPAIRS WHARF

Unemployed men, living at the Helping Hand Home, Water street, have undertaken to repair the brick wharf along the Monongahela River between Grant and Smithfield streets.

It will be entirely repaired, mostly with the present bricks, and a portion of it landscaped. If shrubbery can be obtained free. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, owner of the property, is furnishing a supervisor for the work. It also is furnishing some tools. Booth & Flinn, contractors, is supplying the other equipment.

Gangs of from 50 to 100 men already are working on the project daily. Each man is given a ration of tobacco and treated to special meals by the home on his work days.

It had been planned originally for the city to furnish materials for repairing the stretch. When they were not forthcoming, the work was started, utilizing the old bricks.

BULLETS FLY AS M'KEES ROCKS POLITICAL FEUD FLARES

RIVAL ACCUSED BY CONSTABLE OF ATTACK

Arrested Man Declares He Was Assaulted by Officer, Brother; Fired in Ground

Accused of having fired two shots at Constable Thomas (Tim) Drexler, former pugilist and McKees Rocks political leader, Carl Jarak, 37, of McKees Rocks road, jailed today in default of $2,000 bail after being questioned by Chief of County Detectives George W. Morten.

DENIES CHARGE

Telling an entirely different story, Jarak denied Drexler's charge and declared that he was attacked by Constable Drexler and his brother, Henry, as he was returning home from a visit with his mother. Jarak said Henry Drexler grabbed him and held him around the neck while Constable Drexler hit him in the face with his fist. Pulling free, Jarak said he fired two shots into the ground to frighten his assailants.

Jarak was arrested by County Detective John W. Geisler, who said that Drexler had told him the accused had fired two shots at him as he passed Jarak's house on the McKees Rocks road. Drexler said he started toward the house and Jarak waited him to keep away. Drexler called county detectives.

FEARED CONSTABLE

When Geisler went to arrest Jarak he submitted peacefully.

At county detective headquarters Jarak told attaches that he had carried a revolver for a week because he had heard that Constable Drexler was going to get him.

Both Jarak and Constable Drexler were questioned by Chief Morten.

Constable Drexler was exonerated by a coroner's jury in 1927 after being accused of killing George Neta, and Joseph Farpo, non-striker in Mesta Run disorders.

SECOND BIG ZEP TO BE BUILT IN AKRON

Finishing Touches Being Put On First Ship Preparatory For Saturday Christening

AKRON, O., Aug. 5. (AP.) — With arrangements nearly complete for christening of the Navy's dirigible Akron here Saturday, officials of the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation today made preliminary plans for construction of its sister ship, the ZRS-5.

The Akron, which is the largest Zeppelin in the world, will be given its name by Mrs. Herbert Hoover before probably 100,000 persons. Mrs. Hoover will arrive here Saturday, participate in the christening and depart in a few hours for Washington to help the President entertain his birthday at his Rapidan fishing camp.

TRIAL FLIGHT AUGUST 15

The first trial flight of the Akron probably will be made August 15. Shortly thereafter the builders will be ready to start on its sister ship.

Although final approval from the Navy Department must be received before work can be started on the second Zeppelin, officials of the construction company have placed orders for a quantity of duralumin metal to be used in the second ship and have made plans to retain most of the 800 workmen who today were putting the final touches on the Akron.

PAIR TO COST $7,825,000

The officials said they did not expect a delay of more than six weeks in the start of the sister ship because its option price to the Navy of $2,450,000 will expire when the trial flights of the Akron are completed.

The contract price for the second Zeppelin was based partly upon the understanding it would be built soon after the Akron, which as the first of the pair, will cost $5,575,000.

DIVORCED HERE, PAIR WED IN NEW YORK

John M. Huston, Tenth Ward Politician, E. E. Woman Obtained License Monday

Two recent Pittsburgh divorcees, John M. Huston, 54, Tenth Ward politician, and Mrs. Ethel Lorila Mallard, 41, of 333 Denniston avenue, have been married in New York City, according to the belief of friends expressed today.

They obtained a license at the Municipal Building in New York Monday and at that time indicated they would be married immediately, legal in the Empire State.

Huston, who gave his address at 4826 Bryant street, obtained his freedom after 13 years of married life last Saturday when Judge Samuel H. Gardner granted Mrs. Margaret B. Huston, 54, of 4826 Bryant street, a decree on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. The Hustons have eight children, ranging from 14 to 24 years of age. Huston did not contest the suit.

Mrs. Mallard, mother of a daughter aged 15, was granted a decree in Common Pleas Court just two years ago. She charged Fred Mallard, whom she married in Wheeling, with deserting her March 27, 1927. They were married September 4, 1926. She asked for, besides her divorce, $50 alimony and custody of minor children.

The Hustons were married January 25, 1908, when he was a clerk in a department store and she was employed in the Tenth Ward. Mrs. Huston testified.

Equal Privileges For Women in Y. M. C. A. Asked

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 5. (AP.) — Women would be granted equal privileges with men in organizations of the Young Men Christian Association under a resolution presented today at the Y. M. C. A. World Conference by Walter N. Wood, of Philadelphia, general secretary of the association.

PINCHOT STAYS TO AID MINERS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5.—Gov. Pinchot's trip to the Pacific Coast has been called off. Today he made public a telegram to Gov. Meyer, of Oregon, in which he said he could not attend the annual reunion of the Alaska Yukon Sourdough Association at Portland, Ore., August 14 to 17.

He gave as his reason the strike of soft coal miners in Western Pennsylvania. The telegram said:

"For the last few days I have been trying to persuade myself that the destitution in the soft coal region of Western Pennsylvania would allow me to get away. Not only grownups, but large numbers of children of miners, both those on strike and those at work, are suffering from partial starvation. I must find food for them if it can possibly be done. Under its constitution the state cannot appropriate directly. This increases tremendously the difficulty of the problem. I must stay here and do what I can."

DEBT REVISION PARLEY SEEN IN LONDON

Political and Financial Circles Call Renewal of Reparations Impossible

International News Service.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—A new conference aimed at revision of war debts and reparations was confidently predicted in political and financial circles here today as a result of the inquiry by the international committee of bankers into Germany's economic situation.

The predictions were based upon what is termed the obvious impossibility of Germany's resumption of full reparations payments at the termination of the Hoover moratorium period. One authority said:

"When you appoint bankers to a committee of this sort you expect them to do something; it is obvious what has to be done."

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald and Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson meeting today at a hunting lodge in the Scottish highlands were expected to discuss the problem in detail. It was doubtful whether in future negotiations Britain would continue to adhere to the Balfour declaration, which embodies strict recognition of all war obligations, and there seemed a distinct possibility the British government would seek easement of her own war burdens.

N. Y. BANKERS MEET

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(INS.)—New York bankers met today to study a report on the German proposals for handling outstanding German short-term credits. The report was prepared by the sub-committee of four organized last week. If an agreement is reached today or tomorrow by the American banks a reply will be sent to Germany and a copy to London where bankers are going over the German proposals.

BERLIN BANKS REOPEN

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—INS.—Absolute calm, today featured reopening of Berlin's banks after a three-week holiday enforced by government decree. There were no signs of runs during the early hours and although a large number of persons took advantage of the opportunity to withdraw funds, an equal number made new deposits.

The general attitude among the people is that money is at least as safe in the banks as at home, as in the event of inflation hoarded money would be virtually thrown away.

Chancellor Bruening in a radio talk rebroadcast in the United States last night, said international co-operation was necessary to save Germany.

CITY FOOD BIDS DISCUSSED

Representatives of three wholesale grocery concerns today conferred for more than an hour with Director of Supplies W. R. Dunlap relative to specifications for groceries. Last week the J. W. Houston Company protested the specifications on articles the price of which might fluctuate materially between the time of bidding and purchase. The companies represented today were H. P. Bethorst & Sons, F. W. Selzer's Company and the Jesse C. Stewart Company.

At the conclusion of the conference C. J. Dunlap said the difficulties had been ironed out and the matter would be further discussed with the City Solicitor.

CHICAGO WARNS REDS ON RIOT

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—INS.—Hundreds of police patrolled the streets of the black belt today, alert for any signs of disorder which might develop into a riot similar to that of Monday, in which three Negroes were slain.

Police Commissioner John Alcock meantime notified Communist agitators that if they incited further riots all leaders of the Communist party would be jailed. Monday's riot started over an attempt of a bailiff to evict a penniless woman from her home.

Numerous meetings were held to consider the tense situation on the South Side and social workers agreed that eviction orders should be held up until each case could be investigated.

It was announced that the 21 prisoners taken at the scene of the outbreak Monday will be prosecuted on charges of inciting a riot and for contempt of court in resisting court order for eviction.

Woman Plans Ocean Trip in Hillig Plane

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., Aug. 5.—(INS.)—The monoplane which Otto Hillig and Hopey Hearin flew to Europe recently was being overhauled here today in preparation for another trans-Atlantic crossing. It will be piloted by Mrs. Geraldine Gres Loffredo, 38-year-old Buffalo, N. Y., woman.

Mrs. Loffredo, who hopes to fly from New York to Rome, will be accompanied by a co-pilot and possibly a navigator. It was reported Donett Ronalco had been selected as navigator and Roger Q. Williams as co-pilot.

Twins United After 40-Year Parting

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Twin brothers who had not seen each other for 45 years met yesterday when the liner Scythia docked.

Michael Conway, 85, en route from County Kilkenny, Ireland, to visit his daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Leavy, in Portland, Ore., was met on the pier by his twin, Edward, a night watchman, and his son, Andrew.

Wayburn, Dancer, Submits to Knife

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Ned Wayburn, well known dance instructor, is ill in the Claremont Hospital, Claremont, N. H., where he is undergoing a two-stage operation. Advices reaching here said the theatrical man became ill several weeks ago. The first operation was performed Monday. The second will be in about 10 days.

Davis Will Attend Westmoreland Picnic

Weather Conditions.

Pressure is low over the interior of the country, with centers over the Southern Rocky Mountain states and over Ontario. While high pressure occupies the Southeast and the Northwest. This condition produced light to heavy rains in North Carolina and Tennessee and northward to the Ohio River in the West and to the Mason and Dixon line in the East. There were also heavy showers in Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri. Elsewhere the rainfall was of little importance.

Maximum temperatures again went over the 100-degree mark yesterday in the east portion of the Dakotas and near 100 in some of the localities of the Northwest. Elsewhere the temperatures were moderate. Indications for local showers continue over the Ohio Valley states.

River Conditions.

Hudson Gets Legal Aid, Denies Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Guy Edward Hudson, whose marriage to Mrs. Minnie (May) Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, was annulled after it was found he had not been divorced from a former wife, yesterday employed a firm of lawyers to handle his legal affairs. He denied he planned to obtain a divorce from Mrs. Margaret Newton-Hudson, who already has filed suit for divorce in Los Angeles.

Hudson exhibited a telegram from Mrs. Kennedy in which she pledged him her "absolute confidence, fidelity and moral support."

Youth, 17, Drowned, Pittsburgher Saved

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 5.—(AP.)—George A. Replogle, 17, was drowned in the Woodbury Dam last night after a raft had upset. Buddy Evans, 12, of Pittsburgh, who also fell into the water, was rescued. The Replogle lad, who could not swim, lived at Woodbury. When the dam was drained the body was found fast in mud on the bottom.

No cost was estimated for the audit which was ordered by the directors as heretofore, after County Solicitor Mortimer B. Lesher informed the County Commissioners this was the proper procedure.

Sues Over Injury By Baby Carriage

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 5.—A masquerade party and a baby carriage formed the basis of a suit for $5,000 filed here by Vincent Sobczak and his wife, Agnes, of Monessen, against Alliksandra Grzensinki and Mary Tomokowski.

Sobczak claims that on November 2, 1929, while his wife was attending a masquerade party at Polish Hall in Monessen, she was struck, knocked to the floor and seriously hurt by a baby carriage pushed by the defendants.

Stillman Returns, Denies Marriage

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—James A. Stillman, banker, returned from England today on the liner Olympic and denied emphatically he intends to remarry.

STORE SLAYER IDENTIFIED

The identity of the Negro slayer of Harry Siegel, 28, assistant manager of Walgreen's drug store, Wood street and Sixth avenue, in a holdup in the store early yesterday is known, according to Lieut. Frank Ferris of the Homicide squad.

Ferris said that a Bertillon photograph had been identified as that of the killer. The man is a Hill district Negro, who has a petty thieving record. Four detectives were assigned to work with police, Ferris said.

Funeral services for Siegel were held today from his home in Oakland Square. Interment was in Millvale.

Accused Teacher Faints in Court

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Accused of issuing six worthless checks, Mrs. Genevieve Friel, 25, who said she was a Philadelphia school teacher, was brought before Judge Ralph Given in police court yesterday and fainted immediately after taking the witness stand. Her trial was continued until Thursday.

Chile Presidential Election Date Set

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—It has been officially announced that the Chilean elections, at which a successor to former President Carlos Ibanez will be chosen, will be held October 4.

Lord Reading, 70, to Wed Career Aide, Aged 37

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—The Marquis of Reading, once ambassador to the United States and later viceroy to India, will be married tomorrow to the young woman who aided him in his rise to the rank of one of Great Britain's foremost statesmen.

His engagement to Miss Stella Charnaud, daughter of the late Charles Charnaud, who represented Great Britain on the international public debt mission to Turkey, was announced today. He is 70 years of age and she is 37.

Miss Charnaud was a member of the vice-regal staff when Lord Reading was in India from 1921 to 1926 and returned with him to England in a similar capacity when he was succeeded by Lord Irwin. She became his chief assistant in all political matters.

The marquis' first wife, the former Alice Edith Cohen, died here in March, 1930.

Lord Reading, born Rufus Daniel Isaacs, started his career as a cabin boy, running away to sea at the age of 14.

After an unsuccessful venture on the stock exchange, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1887. He served in the House of Commons for many years as a Liberal in association with David Lloyd George. He was president of the Anglo-French Loan Mission to the United States in 1915.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

THE DOCTOR looked over at me. He's a swell fellow and a real pal of mine. He gave me one of those very professional looks.

"Young man," he asserted, "I regret to inform you that you must have some rest. Such being the case, you are going to get it."

I attempted to argue. There was no reason for an argument, but I thought it might make me feel better. It so often does.

"Doc," I returned, "you're mistaken. I'm a man that can go along for weeks without rest. After all my years in the night clubs and such, I—"

That was as far as I reached. The medico had me by one arm and was leading me toward the door.

Right now," he muttered, "I'm the boss. We're going to a hotel and we're both going to get some rest. We'll drop into the Ritz and get a nice double room. If I know my customers, you'll probably sleep for a week."

Some 30 minutes later, the doctor and I were in our room. I was in bed, blinking at him through bleary eyes. He removed his watch, wound it carefully and placed it beside him on a table.

"What time are you getting up, Doc?" I asked him.

"Eight o'clock," he replied. "What time do you want to arise?"

"It's almost 5 o'clock now," I yawned. "I think I'll give myself six hours. Leave a call for yourself at 8 o'clock and another one for me at 11."

"I'll leave a call for you if you wish," he said, "but I don't need any. I'm trained to awaken without calls."

"What are you driving at?" I asked. "You mean to tell me that if you want to get up at a certain time, you can get up without having anyone call you?"

"Exactly," he chirped. "You see, Mark, we steel ourselves to that sort of thing in the medical profession. A few years of practice, and you could do it, too."

"I haven't had anyone awaken me at an appointed time in many years. If I want to arise at a quarter to 7, I merely fix that hour in my mind. And at exactly a quarter to 7 my eyes open."

Now it so happens that I'm a man who needs not only an alarm clock to awaken me but several healthy shakes and a pitcher of ice water as well. Such a man as the doctor amazed me no little.

"That's wonderful, Doc," I asserted. "I wish I could be like that. Don't you ever miss and oversleep?"

"Never," he replied. "As I said before, it's only a question of steeling yourself. Habit takes care of the rest."

"But that's enough for tonight. You turn over and go to sleep. I won't see you in the morning because you'll undoubtedly be sleeping, so I'll say goodbye to you now."

"Just before I leave, I'll tell the operator to call you at 11. Good night."

At two minutes to 11 in the morning I was awakened. But not by the operator. My sleep was interrupted by the snores of the doctor, who was blissfully unconscious in the other bed! . . .

* * *

ALTHOUGH I dislike referring to the unfortunate accident again, I must use a few lines to thank the very many people who wrote to me about my recent column, "Goodbye to a Pal," which dealt with the passing of Helen Walsh. It would be impossible for me to reply personally to all the folks who went to so much trouble. So may I take this means of thanking all of you for your sweet words?

That column wasn't written as a column. I printed it because I thought the kid would have wanted it. I imagined that many people would resent it, but I tell you frankly that I didn't care. I was more than happy when I discovered that it was only the few morons who weren't able to understand.

Incidentally, I want to tell you that the sale of tickets for the Helen Walsh Testimonial Matinee on August 11, is progressing nicely. The mortgage on the mother's house is $7,500 — and that's a pretty high mark to shoot at for one matinee, even if the show is the Ziegfeld Follies. But everybody has been swell to us thus far and I think we'll make the grade.

Just to give you a slight idea of some of the stupidity in this world, I must tell you of an incident that occurred on Sunday night at the Pavilion Royal, Long Island's most beautiful roadhouse. Harry Richman, Walter Winchell and I made a flying trip to that spot to see if we could raise some additional funds for the testimonial.

Harry and I were pretty blue, but the response of the folks down there was grand and we felt very much cheered by the time we were ready to hit the next spot. Nobody had mentioned the explosion and we had forgotten it for the time being. Just as we were about to leave, one idiot stood up. You could see that he considered himself quite a wit.

Hello, Harry," he cried. "How's your boat?"

And he probably doesn't know yet why nobody laughed . . .

A CERTAIN gentleman reports Judge Hyman Bushel has been a New York magistrate for many years. He grows peevish when the same customers come before him time and time again.

A few days ago, a stew was arraigned before him. The magistrate took one look at him and very promptly exploded.

"What is this?" he cried. "You here again?"

The stew grinned foolishly.

"That's right, your honor," he returned. "How have you been?"

The crowd snickered and the magistrate banged his gavel.

"This is an outrage," he roared. "Your record shows that you've been before me seven times. What kind of a record do you call that? What kind of a man are you?"

The drunk shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm sorry, your honor," he said, "but I—"

"There are no buts," the magistrate interrupted. "There can be no excuses and I don't want you to attempt to give me any. You're just no good."

"What I can't understand," he went on rapidly, "is why you're always brought before me? Seven times you've been arrested and each time you come into my court."

"Does it have to be that way? Why must I be picked upon as a target?"

The stew sighed.

"Please don't haul me out, your honor," he murmured. "Is it my fault you can't get promoted?"

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Mirror Reflection

So keen his eyes, and still so dull of sight!
And blind to simple things like warm sunlight
Upon a threshold where the doors flung wide
To let the winds of heaven blow inside.
He would not see the door, or, seeing, find
The place an entrance for his facile mind
To probe and thrust as keenly as a knife
Between the sheltering walls that harbor life.
His lips, so wisely shut, will never form
The little words that keep a friendship warm.
But move with sudden eagerness to frame
The noisy syllables of passion's name.
He'd win more often at his hide-and-seek
If he'd adopt a mercier technique. —Elspeth.

Dorothy Jordan Is Cast As One of Three Film Principals

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4.

Young players who make a big hit in one picture are apt to find the next stage of their career a tantalizing letdown. Sweet while it lasts, the hue and cry soon shifts to some other discovery. There remains the serious and less spectacular business of fashioning a solid career.

Dorothy Jordan [illegible] this [illegible] praises without stint for her fine performance in Min and Bill, she dropped out of the spotlight and, pending a new [illegible] is [illegible] with adults [illegible] else.

It may be the [illegible] Theater will come in Heart and Hand, for which Universal has [illegible] borrowed her. This film is to have but three principals: Walter Huston, Kent Douglas and Dorothy. Its story is a lighthouse setting where [illegible] there will be few distracting influences. Interest will be focused straight on the three characters.

That seems right. It will be for Dorothy.

And he always has his elder brother, John Quillan, work with him in some capacity.

LATEST GOSSIP

A 175-foot yacht with 20 staterooms isn't big enough for Howard Hughes. The young producer is buying a larger one, which will have room for a hydroplane on the after-deck. Myron Selznick actor agent highly successful in [illegible] is [illegible] ill in New York with appendicitis. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is importing a Cuban band to play in Lawrence Tibbett's new picture. Douglas MacLean is back from a combination honeymoon and business trip to Alaska. He gathered material for a comedy based on the salmon industry. He and Mrs. MacLean, [illegible] Lorraine Eddy, cruised in their own boat.

Geoffrey Kerr and Kent Douglas are two actors to forswear Hollywood after their present engagements. Genevieve Tobin, the sleek and unruffled, receives a new five-year contract from Universal.

GARBO WILL DO IT

It may be [illegible] the future, but Greta Garbo will do Luigi Pirandello's As You Desire Me upon the completion of the spy-melodrama Mata Hari. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer bought the Italian play some time ago and from the first there has been little doubt as to whom it was intended for. You may recall Judith Anderson played the lead role in New York, and that several of the critics were roundly scored for not understanding the play.

Incidentally

It was Mr. Jesse who spoke [illegible] a group of [illegible] brethren the other day by telling them of the most beautiful dream he ever had.

I was dreaming, said Jesse, that the reservoir in Central Park was filled with borsht, that red soup, and an aviator was flying over it slowly dropping a hot potato here and a hot potato there.

What's so beautiful about a dream like that? one of us queried.

I was the only one there, sighed George, who had a spoon.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Theater owners are urged to get busy on a "Go To The Theater Movement," the suggestion having been made in the Bulletin, official organ of the Motion Picture Theater Owners' Association. The crusade is held to be justified on the claim of "creating a more cheerful atmosphere in the entire nation." It is suggested that this angle be stressed in theater advertising.

Woman Welfare Aide Wins Divorce

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5. (INS)—Averring she had suffered much "cruel and barbarous treatment" at the hands of her husband during their 22 months of wedded life, Mrs. Edith M. Rochford, 26, welfare worker and graduate of Darlington Seminary, yesterday obtained a final decree of divorce from Edward A. Rochford, Lansdowne, Pa.

The couple eloped to Rye, N. Y., where they were married after a chance meeting at the home of Rochford's sister in Lansdowne two and a half years ago. They have a child 16 months old.

TECH MAN HURT IN TRUCK CRASH

FRYEBURG, Me., Aug. 5. (AP.)—Abraham Krasker, director of a boys' camp near here, said today that a councilor and a boy camper injured in a truck crash in which 27 were hurt at Center Sandwich, N. H., were "not as seriously injured as at first believed."

Allen Risedorph, the councilor, swimming instructor at Carnegie Tech, received a slight injury at the base of the skull and a dislocated shoulder, and Leo Rosen, 15, of Roxbury, Mass., an injured vertebrae.

Allen E. Risedorph, Tech athletic instructor, has been a resident of the Tech dormitories in Woodlawn avenue. He left here June 1 to take a summer position in the Maine camp.

DECLARES BOY LIFER INSANE

Alvin Hess, 16 when he was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder a little over three years ago, has become insane in the Western Penitentiary, according to Dr. John Priestes, resident physician, and Judge James H. Gray will act on Hess' case in Criminal Court tomorrow. He will decide whether the boy, now 19, shall be placed in an asylum or stay in prison.

When Dr. Priestes notified the court of Hess' condition, Judge Gray appointed a lunacy commission consisting of Dr. E. E. Mayer and Dr. C. H. Henninger to examine him. They will report tomorrow.

Hess was found guilty of killing a man, aged about 55, on the Monongahela River bank near Brown's Bridge, September 1, 1927, and robbing him of $1.62, which the boy said he gave to his mother. The man's skull was fractured with a stone.

Should We Neglect the Living To Mourn Dead Ones?

Is grief sacred?

Is death an excuse for shirking life?

Have we a right to neglect service to the living because we are mourning the dead?

These were the sorrowful questions which a "Heartbroken Mother" asked. These are the questions which nearly all of us must ask sooner or later when Death throws a black bar across our path, shutting us off from normal happy life. And some answer those questions gallantly—carrying on in spite of their agony. But others answer them with hopeless surrender.

As "Heartbroken Mother" was tempted to do. She had lost her little son . . . that one new bow who was the fulfillment of her proud dreams. And life seemed ended.

MAKING CHILD SUFFER

"I just can't seem to go on," she wept. "Even my little girl can't fill the aching emptiness of my life. I live day after day numb with misery."

But have we a right to let grief do that to us?

Out of heartburning and wretchedness, past now but never forgotten, Eulalie writes "No!"

Dear Sally Martin:

It was with great sorrow and pity that I read the letter from Heartbroken Mother. Sorrow and pity not for her alone, although I know just how terrible she feels, but for that little girl of hers whom she is making suffer so undeservedly for her grief.

I know how that little girl feels, too. And how she will feel in the years to come, if her mother doesn't force herself out of the slough of misery she is in, and live for the living.

My childhood was clouded by a terrible grief like that. So was my sister's. Our only brother died when he was just 12, and my sister and I were 10 and 8 respectively. Mother was never the same after that happened. I know that father felt the death of his only son just as deeply as she did, but somehow he pulled himself together and went on. Somebody had to. There was our living to make, and he made it in spite of the way he felt.

SORROWFUL AIR

But mother practically consecrated her life to grieving. For months no one must talk loudly or laugh in the house. We were never allowed to have company, because her grief forbade any gaiety or fun. It was as if a dark curtain had shut in our lives. My sister and I went around, when we were at home, in a state of unnatural and morbid gloom and depression.

Even my wedding years later, was clouded by mother's resigned, gently sorrowful air, and her dwelling on our ancient tragedy. Nothing must be gay or colorful, even then, in a house that Death had once visited. And it may sound heartless to say it, but I was glad to get away from home. My sister had already left, to work in a distant city. Mother is gone herself now. But I often think of those years of my childhood, lived in a sort of atmosphere of darkness and hush that had a really terrible effect on both my sister and myself. So to Heartbroken Mother I say:

Please, please, try to forget your loss and remember the one who is living. She needs you. She needs all the love which she needs. Your mothering and your understanding most. Stand by her. Think how all of what life may hold of what will satisfy her depends on you.

How do you think you'd own mother if she were gone would want you to waste your little life like this? She would

Would you like to see your daughter go the prey of sorrow were taken from her? Of course you wouldn't. You would want her to be happy.

FOUGHT OFF GRIEF

And I am speaking from a heart that has known loss and grief, too. Three years ago I lost my husband, and I have had to fight off those. But I have found that I can't live in the past. I have to live in the present and for the future.

So be courageous. Look around you. Force yourself to see the little things one toward happiness and some day before you know it grief will be only a gentle memory . . . a blessed memory that gives you a kinship with all the other people of the world.

EULALIE

A brave letter, my dear . . . and a true one. And here's my hand in salute to your spirit and courage and understanding.

The Beauty Box

Now and then there's a suggestion that the pompadour may return. Not that one bobbed up with, and wears but a scant few, will ever go back to the straight back with the wavy sides, but a pompadour that has the soft, fluffy effect of the old days.

There are after all, only four kinds of complexions, dreams the beauty massage emollient suitable for use at night to make up for wear and tear of tissues: cold cream that is a general utility cosmetic to be used as a preventive of sunburn or tan; the thin liquid cleanser that runs into the pores and runs out again bearing atmosphere dust; and vanishing cream which are foundation smears upon which to lay powder and other decorative effects.

Clinging Vines Still the Big Favorites in Films and Fiction—Fay King

By FAY KING.

We hear so much about the independence of women these days, and the passing of the clinging vine.

As I see it, the clinging vines have never been more successful than they are right now.

They are still the big favorites in the films and fiction.

Every day we read of some actress making a brilliant marriage. Actresses, above all women, emphasize charm and femininity.

Women who insist upon being utterly independent don't get much of a tumble.

If they do finally marry, it is usually to hem-hangers for whom they must think and act and humor and provide.

Their husbands are more of an added responsibility than a comfort.

Don't let anyone kid you—the clinging vine is still a great success.

Folks at Farmhouse Puzzled

The question: Now why? Mr. Corwin's call by my father at the end of his analysis of the activities of the burglars entered from over the telephone in Mr. Corwin's the bank president's pale face, a sleepy little frown. He appeared astonished by the facts we knew. The main was we thought were hunting Marion's lock-box with its secret compartment and unknown contents had attempted an entrance to the bank had been frightened away by the preparations made on account of my father's warning and had fled in their big blue sedan toward North Haven the island connected with Sag Harbor only by a narrow bridge and which could not prove a cul-de-sac for them.

There could be but one result of their change of forced choice of direction. They would soon be captured though there might be lives lost in the encounter between them and the representatives of the law. Mr. Corwin would telephone to developments for which, of course we would wait. But there seemed to be no reason for the apprehension which seemed to envelop me as with a chilly fog.

It's father's fat-fetched theory. Harry Underwood began breathlessly and my father wheeled facing him.

"Your fat-fetched theories" have been known to get results," he said drily. "Let's hear it."

They may have a hide-away on North Haven," Harry said. "There are several places over there in the hands of caretakers and their ilk have been found bribable before this. They may have been able to cache the car, change their appearance and double back in another one, after they've led the pursuing party a dance along those winding roads. If once they can get back over the bridge they'll be comparatively safe, for everybody will be looking for a big blue sedan."

"Your words sure listen wise to me, pal," Dicky drawled approvingly.

"So wise," my father said approvingly, "that I'm going to telephone Corwin about them."

He went to the telephone in the hall, and we heard him wrestling at first temperately, then wrathfully with the operator in an attempt to get into communication with the bank. When he came out upon the veranda again he was wiping his forehead although the early morning breeze was cool, and his voice held an edge of exasperation.

"The operator says," he reported, "that someone has left the receiver off the hook at the bank, and that it is impossible to connect us for a while. And, of course, I cannot ask the girl for information."

"She probably knows all there is to know at that," Dicky said, and is bursting to impart it. But, of course, it wouldn't be crisac to tempt her."

"Will the girl call you back when the receiver is replaced?" Lillian asked.

"She promised to do so," my father said glumly. "I suppose Corwin took it off himself, because by now the grapevine telegraph has gotten busy, and probably everybody in the village is ringing the bank to find out."

He paused and Dicky finished with a quotation:

"What's all the shootin' for?"

"Exactly," my father said, drawing a chair to the veranda rail and settling down in it. "Well, there's nothing to be done now except to wait for Corwin's telephone call."

Harry Underwood stretched and flexed his powerful arms, and walked toward the door.

"A word with you, my lad," he said to Dicky, with affected solemnity, and the two men walked into the hall where we could hear them in brief murmured colloquy. Then Dicky came back and Harry Underwood went up the stairs. When he returned within five minutes, Dicky slipped out and went upstairs, coming back as quickly. Lillian pinched my arm, and then spoke with a provocative drawling accent.

"It's sweet of you boys to get properly heeled, but why the mystery? Do you think Madge and I are afraid of the little popguns?"

"And that's what a man gets for trying to play the chivalry racket and protect his womenfolk from sordid facts," Dicky declaimed, but nobody paid any attention to his rhetorical effort, for the telephone was ringing again, and my father hastened to answer it, while the rest of us went into the process popularly known as holding one's breath.

"Yes, yes," my father was saying, "yes, Corwin, this is Spencer. What's that? Yes, I've been trying to get you for some time, but the operator said the receiver was off the hook. Yes, I thought that must be it. What's your news?"

We had heard Mr. Corwin's voice over the wire, but could not distinguish the words. Now there was sudden silence, and when the voice began again it was halting and its tones almost inaudible.

My father listened for a moment, then he gave an excited and awed exclamation, very unlike him. When Mr. Corwin's voice ceased, he spoke in a solemn, subdued voice.

"Well, that's that, the post desist, but there's no disguising the fact that it's a relief. Call on me for whatever you want."

He hung up the receiver and came back to us slowly, as one walks in the presence of death.

A New Atmosphere

When it is possible to change around the furnishings of a room, by all means do so. It is good for the rugs and furniture as well, and it creates a new atmosphere and interest in the room and the people of the home.

An Uneven Bottom

If you discover the bottom of the vase to be uneven and that it has caused some scratches on your furniture, cut a piece of felt from an old hat or slipper and paste on the bottom of the vase. If no old felt is available use a thick piece of blotting paper.

PUBLIC WARNING

See That This Deception Is Not Practised Against You

THIS warning is printed to put the public on guard against a deception which may be practised against those who seek genuine Bayer Aspirin for pain, headaches or colds.

We take this means of warning you, so you may be able to protect yourself and your family against the results of such deception.

BEWARE!

Other preparations, we are informed, have been offered at times to those who ask for Bayer Aspirin, and even represented in some cases as being "the same as Bayer Aspirin."

Watch Out! Remember that years ago doctors warned the public against "headache remedies," some of which are heart depressants and unsafe for many people to take.

Then remember how Genuine Bayer Aspirin came. And was acclaimed the world over by leading men of science as SAFE relief for pain, and was prescribed without hesitation by eminent physicians. For genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

What folly, then, in the light of these things, to dose yourself with drugs of which you know nothing. Don't gamble. KNOW.

The genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets are made by a special process, under careful supervision of scientists, in the Bayer Laboratories with over 25 years of highly specialized experience.

So when you want SAFE relief for pain, cold or headache, ask for BAYER ASPIRIN. You have a perfect right to ask for what you want. And an equal right to get what you ask for.

Look for the name BAYER on the package. And the word Genuine in red. Insist on Genuine Bayer Aspirin and refuse substitutes.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Use Chemicals to Obliterate Tattoo Marks

At one time tattooing was very popular, particularly with sailors and soldiers. It is used in Europe as a means of furnishing to the police a method of identifying criminals. The difficulties in removing tattoo marks made it of great value for this purpose.

Dr. Copeland

During the late war many soldiers amused themselves by getting tattooed. After the war many of these men became ashamed of the tattoo mark and desired to get rid of it.

Tattoo marks are removed with great difficulty. The tattoo painting is made by the injection of minute particles of lampblack, sometimes mixed with India ink. The introduction into the skin is made by a very fine needle and the mark can be removed only with great skill.

If you are one of the boys who at some rash moment decided to be tattooed, I warn you against the use of any caustic chemicals or lotions. The removal of tattoo marks may be accomplished, but it should be done by a competent skin specialist.

The removal requires the application of a long and delicate process. At its best the final result is not that of a number of white blemishes which have replaced the blue dots of the tattooing. The process requires patience, but the results may be rather gratifying.

Occasionally, due to their great desire to remove the tattoo marks men have resorted to the use of acids. These chemicals burn the skin and frequently leave little scars. Extensive burning of the skin with severe complications have been reported.

Charlatans and quacks have attempted to attract business by offering to remove tattoo marks inexpensively. They have held out guarantees of safe removal. Many physicians have condemned this practice, and I want my readers to be forewarned against them.

If you are particularly anxious to have the tattoo removed consult with your physician. He will refer you to a man trained in this particular work, a skin specialist who will protect you against results worse than the original trouble.

Answers to Health Queries

YOURS TRULY, Q. I am a girl of 16, four feet tall, weighing 111 pounds. Is there any way in which I can increase my height? At what age does one attain the full height?

A. You will continue to grow and develop generally until you reach the age of 21. Join a gymnasium for some systematic exercise.

* * *

M. F. T. Q. What can be done for perspiring feet and what causes them to swell? Would this be caused by a kidney condition?

A. For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question. If there is any reason to suspect a kidney condition have an examination so that definite advice and treatment can be given.

Socialists Receive Funds for Miners

Many letters containing contributions continue to be received daily for the miners' relief fund of the Socialist Party with headquarters in the Lyceum Building, it was stated today. One of the latest contributors, it was announced, was Mrs. Robert M. La Follette, Sr., widow of Senator La Follette, who wrote he considered it a privilege to make a contribution.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Hostess Always Rises

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When a present is sent to a future daughter-in-law how should I sign the card, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown or Susan and William Brown?

2. Is it not proper for a hostess to rise when a gentleman comes to spend the evening?

3. Is it in perfect taste to have the family crest on gentlemen's stationery as well as on the ladies'?

4. When assisting at a formal tea and the hostess does not know my friends, will you please tell me whose name to mention first?

CONSTANT READER.

1. Susan and William Brown is correct, if there is a card accompanying the gift.

2. Yes, the hostess always rises to greet her guests, whether they are women or men. She rises, shakes hands with them, and greets them with some comment such as, "It is delightful to have you come" or "I am so happy to see you, and so glad you came."

3. Yes.

4. Mention first the name of the hostess and introduce the guest to her.

Business Courtesies

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to know the courtesies used in business. For instance, I am at an information window in a business concern. I am asked questions that I had rather not answer. I am also an operator on a switchboard. At times I am too busy to open the window and when I do, should I excuse my delay?

G. B.

If you are asked questions that professional etiquettes suggests shouldn't be answered say quite honestly, "I'm sorry, but I can't answer that," or "Just a minute, and I will ask Mr. Bryant to see you about that."

If it is apparent that you are busy when the person comes to the window, there isn't any reason why you should excuse yourself since you are doing your job as well and as quickly as you can. This sort of delay at an information-telephone switchboard is taken for granted.

Now—Skin 3 to 5 Shades Whiter Overnight

Way Found to Remove Ugly Flaws

Now—women are discovering this new scientific way to remove weather stains, freckles, blackheads, roughness and wrinkles—and overnight make the skin whiter—three to five shades whiter. It is without question the safest and surest way known to make the skin beautiful, all pink and white—and keep it that way.

Instead of wasting your good money on costly creams and newfangled fancy-named lotions, just get three ounces of Orchard White from any druggist and follow the easy directions. Pat a little into the skin at bedtime and by morning you can see a big improvement. Ugly flaws disappear. The skin gets whiter and soon it is satiny smooth, youthfully fresh and beautiful. What's more, it stays that way. For in Orchard White there's a remarkable ingredient not found in any other preparation. It preserves the beauty of the skin and protects it from the ravages of the wind, rain, sun and dirt. If you really want a smooth soft, beautiful pink and white skin—try this successful way. You'll be happy that you did.

Of course women prefer them they're FRESH!

NOTHING in a cigarette has ever appealed to women so swiftly and truly as the fresh mildness of Camels in the Humidor Pack.

To the delicate feminine throat the suave, cool fragrance of this perfectly conditioned cigarette comes as a genuine and welcome boon.

Now women smokers as well as men are learning what a throat-friendly joy a fine cigarette in prime, factory-fresh condition can be!

Now they can relish the satisfaction of expertly blended fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos free from the scratch-and-sting of parched and dusty dryness.

Camels in the Humidor Pack are just what good cigarettes should be—fine tobaccos kept fine, no matter where or when you buy them.

The scientific germ-safe wrapping—not plain ordinary Cellophane but moisture-proof Cellophane which costs nearly twice as much—seals in all the factory freshness and aroma, seals it so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

If your taste is jaded with the heat and sting of fast-burning dried-out cigarettes, try cool, humidor fresh Camels for a grateful change.

Give your throat a vacation—try Camels for just one day; then quit them—if you can.

Smoke a FRESH cigarette

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked

DAVIS REVIEWS FARM WOES

ROYERSFORD, Pa., Aug. 5 (AP).—One of the serious factors retarding revival of brisk industrial and business conditions was declared yesterday by Senator James J. Davis to be the economic woe of the farmers of the country.

Speaking at a picnic of the Montgomery County Agricultural Societies, Senator Davis said the problem had ceased to be one solely affecting the welfare of the agricultural regions and had become a retarding factor in the national welfare. He declared:

"Substantial prosperity depends largely on the uncurtailed buying power of the general public, and it must be remembered that the people of the agricultural regions constitute almost 50 per cent of our national population. Hence, it is obvious that if the people of the farming regions have empty purses due to over-production and price slashing in the marketing of their products, a tremendous curtailment in the buying power of our national population results."

DRIVERS TOLD OF SPEED TRAPS

The Pittsburgh Motor Club issued a warning today to automobile drivers to avoid three "traps" in the vicinity where police are arresting technical violators of state motor laws. Several members of the club have complained about a trap on the Kennywood hill, above Duquesne Junction, in Mifflin Township.

The club reported that a policeman is stationed where he can observe automobiles on the hill and arrests drivers who pass other machines on grades or curves.

Motorists who pass other cars at two "T" intersections on the Perry Highway at Bradford Woods have been arrested by state and township police. Although the motor code forbids passing at uncontrolled intersections, A. A. Bluestone, the club defense attorney, declared Allegheny County courts have interpreted "T" intersections as not under the meaning of the law. To avoid arrest, motorists were advised not to pass at these points.

Pattern 2184

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Daily Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

A deep bodice yoke shaped to suggest a bolero is a style feature of many important new models, and it is particularly successful in this frock where the contrasting yoke is softened by shirrings. A belt matching the yoke material marks the waistline. This model is lovely in black and a black and white print, or in satin or crepe, combined with a yoke and sleeves of contrasting shade or in matching chiffon or georgette. The softer cottons would also be suitable. Long sleeves are included in Pattern 2184.

Obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39-inch material. 1⅜ yards contrasting. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

2,500 Smiling Infants Make Task Difficult For Judges of Contest

Yesterday was picnic day for thousands of children from Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania at Kennywood and West View Parks. More than 2,500 babies took part in a baby contest at the Kroger-Sun-Telegraph picnic at Kennywood. At West View Tampa the magician produced rabbits out of nowhere for the entertainment of the children and conducted a pie-eating and freckle-face contest for similar enthusiasts.

At Kennywood judges had a difficult time selecting the most beautiful babies from the thousands of smiling infants who competed. Various other contests were staged throughout the afternoon for the children and thousands witnessed the free acts which were part of the park's program.

ARTISTS PICK WINNERS

William E. Burke headed the committee for the outing at Kennywood. He was assisted in the task counted by Hoppe Peters, Sun-Telegraph artist; Irving Vogel, Pittsburgh sculptor; F. H. Maier, costumer, and Mrs. E. P. Carney.

Winners of the baby contest at Kennywood were:

Twins: Dirk and Buddie Schuch of 525 Westinghouse avenue, Wilmerding. Jean and Lois Connelly, of 5117 Ladora street. Hazelwood and Dolores and Janice Chapman of 3401 Stockholm street, McKeesport.

Boys under one year: Allan Goldberg, of Hobart street; Allan Schwartz, of 5522 Black street, and Herman Yost, of Springdale.

Girls under 1 year: Alice Miller, of 214 Ingram avenue; Ingram; Louise Mann, of 127 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, and Mary Ann Mattera, of 116 Dufflland street, Carrick.

Boys, 1 to 3 years: Dale Phillips, of 16 Ann Arbor street, West View; Bobby Bishop, of 1309 Andrea street, Munhall, and Thomas E. Davis, of 609 Walnut street, Heidelberg.

Girls, 1 to 3 years: Ruth Rabone, of 107 Eighteenth avenue, Homestead; Catherine Cash, of Export, and Corrinne Horne, of 617 Penn avenue, Turtle Creek.

Boys, 3 to 5 years: Walter Stauffer, of 17 Sherwood road, Forest Hills; Jack Miller, of 2318 Westport avenue, Overbrook, and Billy Hagmeier, of 47 West Garden street, Brentwood.

Girls, 3 to 5 years: Shirley J. Dietrich, of Etna; Eileen Schmidt, of 548 Third street, Pitcairn, and Eileen Miller, of 2318 Westport avenue, Overbrook.

FRECKLED PIE-EATER

At West View the honors of the day were carried off by one small red-haired, freckle-faced boy with an enormous pie-eating capacity and speed. George Henisch, 10, of 18 Kenmore avenue, Forest Hills, was an easy first prize winner in both the pie-eating and freckle-face contests. In the former contest he won a watch and in the latter a pool table set.

William Hacker, 15, of 154 Watkins avenue, received a cake as the

TWO MEN HELD IN FATAL FIGHT

SUSPECT TO GO TO DETROIT

Oscar Owens, 40, of 705 Atwood street, arrested yesterday for the theft of $67 and diamonds valued at $2,847 from his sister, Mrs. W. Lacy, with whom he lived, will be turned over to Detroit authorities, who want him on a grand larceny charge, city detectives announced today.

Owens' craving for dope prompted the theft, Detectives George Lehrman and William Reese said after arresting him in Market street. The jewels were reported to have been found in his possession. After his arrest detectives learned he was wanted in Detroit. Owens said he would waive extradition.

Dry Republicans Win Campaigns With Hiccups

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Democrats cannot figure whether their candidate should be dry before or after election.

If he is wet before that critical November he will lose dry states. If he is dry he will lose the most fertilizers.

The Republicans have won the last three elections by avoiding the liquor question entirely and allowing their candidate one hiccup at the finish of every speech.

The dry Democrats insist that their candidate sign a pledge swearing he will not interfere with prohibition. That is rather non-essential, as the Republicans will see that he doesn't interfere with anything.

You may think it is too early for presidential politics but the only chance a Democrat has to cross a bridge is before the G. O. P. comes to it.

It looks like the solution will be a compromise candidate who will talk dry until he gets thirsty and then drink wet until he can't talk at all.

And from advance information we can assure you that the 1932 presidential campaign will be the fiercest fight the Democrats ever had among themselves.

DRYS SEIZE 2 AUTOS, STILLS

Prohibition agents seized two large stills and two liquor-laden automobiles yesterday.

Mrs. Bessie Burns, 35, living near the Library stop, Bethel Township, was released on her own recognizance following the seizure of a 100-gallon still in her home, agents said.

A 200-gallon still and 2,400 gallons of mash were reported found in a dwelling at 622 Grandview avenue, Carnegie. No arrests were made.

In a house in the rear of Lucerne street, Ross Township, 14 cases of home brew were confiscated, the raiders reported. John Cangiarie, of 1129 Ridge avenue, was arrested at East General Robinson and Sandusky streets, while he was alleged to have been transporting five gallons of moonshine in an automobile. An automobile containing 10 gallons of moonshine was seized in Spring Way, near Sixteenth street. The driver fled.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN WATER

The body of Miss Elsie Heschler, 35, of 872 Progress street, North Side, was recovered from the Montgomery Dam, near Grove City, yesterday. She was drowned Monday night. Relatives in Jackson Center, near Grove City, identified the body.

Grove City police said they believed Miss Heschler ended her own life. She recently suffered a nervous breakdown following an automobile accident. For 10 days she had been visiting relatives at Jackson Center.

CAR REROUTING PROTESTED

Residents of Stowe Township today protested against the proposed rerouting of street cars on Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, at a hearing before the Public Service Commission, on the ground that it was unnecessary and would injure business houses on the township end of the thoroughfare.

Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, burgess of McKees Rocks, and member of the Legislature, testified the rerouting was needed to improve traffic conditions. The Pittsburgh Railways Company is neutral in the dispute.

20,000 North Siders Picnic at West View

A crowd that is expected to reach 20,000 by the late afternoon and early evening is participating in the annual picnic of the North Side Board of Trade at West View Park. Numerous features have been planned by the committee headed by William G. Doench, with William Foley, William Simons, Robert Moreland, Elmer Beyseck, William Fuellet, A. M. Hartsell, M. Wolfinger and Dr. F. E. Neely as other members.

A healthy baby contest in addition to a watermelon eating contest, a program of athletics and concerts by the Board of Trade band are among the events.

The business houses of the Manchester district will be closed all day.

Injured Workman Sues for $125,000

Asking $125,000 damages for injuries alleged caused when a two-wheeled hand truck fell on him from the top of a building, Woodie Stevenson, of Donora, filed suit against the Federal-American Cement Tile Company in Common Pleas Court. He charged his skull was fractured when a workman of the company allowed the truck to fall from the new American Steel and Wire Company plant at Donora, where Stevenson was employed by the Dravo Contracting Company.

Amen Corner Holds Annual Outing

A program of swimming, baseball and other sports features the annual outing of the Amen Corner today at Rainbow Gardens, Versailles Township. Joseph Natali, chairman of the committee, is in charge of the affair. Amateur boxing bouts are to be held tonight.

Additional Locations For Vote Instructions

Four additional locations for the demonstration of voting machines were announced today by Gilbert C. Cloonan, of the Bureau of Elections. The places and time are:

Twenty-second Ward, North Side Carnegie Library, August 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14. Twenty-seventh Ward, Horace Mann School, August 6, 7 and 8. West Homestead Municipal Building, August 10 and 11, and the Whitaker Municipal Building, August 12 and 13. All demonstrations will be made during the hours of 7:30 and 10 p. m.

VOTE LINK SEEN IN ROAD FUND

Over the protest of County Commissioner C. C. McGovern, his associates, Joseph G. Armstrong and Edward V. Babcock, approved an appropriation of $400,000 for the payroll of employes of the County Road Bureau.

Request for the money was made yesterday by John A. Fussell, superintendent of road maintenance, who explained that the large expense of clearing roads after heavy rains and the payment of extra men put to work to relieve unemployment have drained the Road Bureau's appropriations and that unless more funds were appropriated he would have to lay off about 700 men in the near future.

McGovern said that with the primary a short time away men and boys of voting age have been solicited to work in the road bureau. Armstrong replied that he was for keeping men at work.

DUNN SEES GOOD ERA FOR CITY

Pittsburgh has not felt the effects of the depression as greatly as many other larger cities, Thomas A. Dunn, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, said at a luncheon meeting of the New Kensington Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

He expressed his belief in Pittsburgh's future progress and based the statement that the city is economically sound on the fact that the volume of business here has steadily increased in the last 15 years.

Electric Inspectors See Film Program

Members of the Western Pennsylvania Chapter of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors met last night in Odd Fellows' Hall, Sixth avenue. Motion pictures taken of the meeting of the western section of the association at Denver, Col., and of a tour through Yellowstone National Park were shown. W. K. Estep was chairman of the meeting.

Fall Off Scaffold Fatal to Worker

Injuries incurred when he fell from a scaffold at the Improvement of the Poor, 428 Duquesne Way, proved fatal today to Dennis Murphy, 27, of the same address, in the Allegheny General Hospital. Murphy was injured Monday.

Flying Missionary Averts Plane Crash

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 5. (AP).—The Rev. Brother Gerard Peters, of Alaska, known as the flying missionary, averted a possible serious accident yesterday when he maneuvered his airplane to a safe landing at Bendix Field despite a loose wheel.

Ground workers saw the wheel hanging out of place as he flew toward the field and signaled him. He brought the plane down and careened it along the ground, keeping the loose wheel in the air.

McKeesport Studies Interest Cut Plan

Requests for lower interest rates on school board deposits made by representatives of five banks will be considered by the McKeesport School Board at a special meeting Monday night.

The board is now receiving 3 per cent on its sinking fund and 2½ per cent on the general fund. Reduced rates on both funds have been asked. The proposed rates were not disclosed.

Canuti to Broadcast Vote Appeal Monday

Attorney Frank J. Canuti will inaugurate next Monday a series of radio addresses in the interest of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for one of the seven judges of Common Pleas Court to be elected next fall. Canuti will broadcast over WJAS on "The Importance of Modernizing Our Courts by the Election of a New Judiciary."

Nail Wound Causes Death of Woman

Blood poisoning which developed when she stepped on a nail July 10 caused the death last night of Cora V. Douglass, 36, of Howell and Simpson roads, Elizabeth Township, according to the coroner's report. The woman died in her home.

North Side Fire Laid To Cigaret Stub

A cigaret stub dropped from above was blamed for setting fire to a first-floor awning in front of the store of Charles K. Miller, interior decorator, 820 Federal street, today. Employes tore down the awning before firemen arrived. Damage was slight.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 5.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

See by the paper that they formed away out here in Sacramento, Cal., a 'Draft Dwight Morrow for President Club.' Well I hope he makes it. All I want out of it is the ambassadorship to Mexico. Dont laugh, you haven't seen all our ambassadors lately, have you? I could get away with that job. Morrow could tell just what to do and who to do it to. I could attend the dinners and bull fights and make speeches to both and listen without laughing (much) to the Americans saying: We got to take this country over and civilize it, like ours. Like ours, ha! ha!

Millionth Legion Member Pays Visit to Hoover

Teli W. Nicolet, of the Fairfax Apartments, East End, the millionth member of the American Legion, was to meet President Hoover at noon today in the White House. Army officials and fellow legionnaires were to be present.

At midnight July 3, Nicolet, landscape architect of Allegheny Memorial Park, was registered in the Legion by Dr. S. Barton Sklar, member of the East Liberty Post, and drew the millionth card. This closed the 52-rollment drive, in which the Legion raised their membership from 620,000 to 1,000,000 within a month's time.

Nicolet will probably meet other high officials as well as the President during his stay in Washington.

Man Found Dead, Believed a Suicide

A bullet wound in his head, Wesley Pickstone, 50, was found dead in bed in his home in Saltsburg road, Plum Township, last night, the coroner's office reported. Deputy coroners found a revolver beside the body and believed the man a suicide.

"Is the people capable of self-government?

"In my judgment the test is not whether they can govern themselves but whether they will govern themselves.

"The ... in a democracy ... from the people ... preservation depends on the people.

"As a people we have been taking the protection which our form of government affords to life, liberty and property without accepting the responsibility which devolves upon us. It is a pleasant fiction in the selection of public men to publicly refer to us as awaken only after the evils of an unrestricted individualism when we realize that our sins are visited upon us.

"Nations always have the character of government which they deserve and this is true of states as well as nations.

INDIFFERENCE BLAMED

"While we presuppose a government to be a mirror which will reflect honestly that certain fraction of the qualified electors register and that of this fraction only a fraction exercise the right of suffrage—I should more properly say the duty of suffrage—it then becomes a government by a minority and not by a majority. It is from this lack of performance of a civic duty and the indifference to it that have been sacrificed and untold treasure spent. Surely it will adequately meet this present situation which is a war on decent society.

"There certainly is a whole lot of truth in what Mr. Hearst says and executioners should be used more and criminals less to dictate even the brain action of hold-up gunmen and hoodlum stand-in doors in some cities.

"Mr. Hearst's campaign should bring about an honest, united effort and, if carried on permanently, such a crusade should arouse the public and put a stop to these practices.

SWIMMING POOL DEDICATED IN MT. OLIVER

Parade Features Borough Ceremony; 3,000 Plunge as Highland Park Tank Opens

The new $40,000 swimming pool which Mt. Oliver has provided for its residents was dedicated last night with a parade through the streets of the borough and speeches at the pool. Louis R. Schmidt, president of Council, was master of ceremonies.

Burgess John Wagner presented the pool to Mrs. Rachael Davis, a member of the school board, who accepted it in behalf of the citizens. Other speakers were former Burgess Charles Moyer, William C. Wagner, former representative H. J. Ness, president of the volunteer fire department; Guy Sherrick, ... McGovern, borough engineer, and Peter Silvester. ... Several members of Council also made brief addresses.

City officials opened the new pool at Highland Park yesterday. Three thousand swimmers plunged into the water after the ceremonies were completed. Director Edward G. Lane of the Department of Public Works was in charge. Members of Council and other department heads took part.

Dethol

seeks them out and kills them!

The remarkable value of Dethol is that it not only kills the bugs, flies and mosquitoes that you can see, but it seeks out every conceivable hiding place, in cracks, crevices and behind mouldings, that you can't possibly reach with a brush or broom.

Dethol spray (harmless to humans and pets) reaches every roach, ant, bedbug, flea, moth, fly, mosquito —all pests—and absolutely kills them. It prevents multiplication of these disease carrying insects and makes your home absolutely clean and sanitary. You'll like the clean odor of Dethol.

Dethol is quick, sure, easy and inexpensive to use. Spray it anywhere—it won't stain. And if it doesn't kill every insect, flying or crawling, like we say it will, your full purchase price will be refunded. Buy from your favorite dealer. Dethol Mfg. Co., Inc., Baltimore, Md.

Men Brush Up Toppers for Gentlemen's Race

ROUEN, France.—Men for many miles around this city are now brushing up their silk hats and getting ready to run in the famous gentlemen's race to be staged here Sunday, September 6.

All the participants must wear gentlemen's clothes that is, tall silk hats, smoking jackets, white gloves, white buttonhole and carry a cane. They are entered under pseudonyms and the distance they must cover is three miles.

Last year's winner ran under the name of the Aga Khan. The oldest runner was 56 and the youngest 18.

This "gentlemen's race" is probably one of France's most picturesque events and visitors flock to the city from all parts of the country.

SMART SHOES ESSENTIAL FOR PERFECT GROOMING

—Sketched in Paris—

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 5.—To travel the highroad of fashion, one's shoes must be right. Many a smart costume has been utterly ruined because of shoes that were not just right. And so when it comes to shoes at least—watch your step. Don't go in for fancy shoes. For directly a shoe is different, it draws too much attention to the foot, and that is something that should be avoided. Although many fancy shoes and sandals that have been inspired by the Colonial exposition are being shown here, one rarely sees them unless it be that the foot, the accompanying costume and the occasion are all just right. In harmony and a knowledge of the essential fitness of things is to be found the secret of perfect dressing.

* * *

WE HAVE SENT YOU drawings of new shoes and an interesting bag. Here they are. The upper left-hand sketch shows a sandal from Helistern. The back and heel of the shoe are of bright red kid, as are the two crossed straps at the front. A stiff tip of black patent leather is turned back over the toes after the manner of the old Persian slippers. Black patent leather piping edges the sole and the sandal is lined in gilt kid. The other model is made entirely of red and white cotton braid with a faceted wooden heel lacquered in white. This was seen with last week at the smartest Cleek Golf Club with a white crepe sport dress that had bright red accessories, belt, hanker and a hatband on a white panama. The lower sketch shows two views of a new bag. It has two sides hinged together at one edge and opening like a book. When the bag is closed it resembles a large flat pouch with envelope closing.

* * *

WHEN THE BAG is opened, one finds on the inside surface a large mirror, vanity case and the usual compartments for money, cards and the various odds and ends without which no bag is complete. The bag is of plain dark green leather mounted in silver. It fastens by means of a small metal cylinder which is passed through a slit on the opposite corner of the top and turned vertically to hold the two sides together.

COON-SANDERS BOOKED -:- No Change in N. B. C. Lineup

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN
Radio Editor

THE COON-SANDERS Nighthawks, holders of the insomnia record among radio orchestras have been booked into the East at last and are to be heard regularly over the NBC red network (WCAE) beginning October 1. The Nighthawks, nationally known for their early morning programs over WDAF in the days of the "King of the Ivories" (remember him?) recently drew 13,000 paid customers to a dance in Denver Col. . . . Billy Murray, who has been making records since Victor was a pup, Marcella Shields and Walter Scanlon introduce a new type of comedy on KDKA at 9:30 tonight . . . The Buddy Boys, on KQV at 9, continue to be a favorite with this department, as well as the Revelers and Olive Palmer, on WCAE at 9:30 . . . Olive is to sing "Estrellita" as a solo and in duet with Paul Oliver, the emotional Cadman masterpiece, "At Dawning."

Darrell V. Martin

* * *

Question a Day:

How long have The Revelers been on the air and how much do they receive? Al Renquist Homestead Park Postoffice.

Answer—The team of Melton, James, Shaw and Glenn received only a "thank you" for their first broadcast over WJZ in October, 1921. Today they are said to receive $1,500 apiece for their two NBC broadcasts.

* * *

"It's Not So!"

George F. McClelland, general manager of the National Broadcasting Company, today spiked all rumors that changes are to be made in the executive personnel of NBC, thereby setting at rest a report of the last fortnight that David Sarnoff would resign R. C. A. and be succeeded by Merlin Aylesworth, president of NBC.

"There is no authority whatever for such a story," Mr. McClelland told us this morning in the William Penn Hotel. "Mr. Sarnoff has no intention of resigning R. C. A. and Mr. Aylesworth was the most surprised man in the world when he heard the report."

Mr. McClelland, a portly gentleman, shrewd of mind and quiet of countenance, spent the greater part of today surveying KDKA and WCAE, the NBC outlets in Pittsburgh.

While he preferred not to be quoted officially, Mr. McClelland intimated that television will be produced by NBC only when it is practical. And that, comrades, is about a year hither.

With Mr. McClelland was A. L. Ashby, vice president and general attorney of NBC.

Studio Lights

Milton Tully, Pittsburgh tenor and protege of "We Now Present," has been given a lead role in Earl Carroll's show . . . and so bye bye radio for a while . . .

Fred Webber got home late last night, minus the latch key . . . Mrs. Webber was away . . . what to do, what to do . . . and then—aha! an idea—Fred called on the volunteer firemen and mounted an upstairs window via hook and ladder . . .

Golf News: Major Edward Bowes made a hole in one on the 205 yard seventeenth hole at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club in Scarborough, New York, while doing a twosome with Mrs. Bowes . . . he scored the "ace" with a No. 1 iron . . .

We had a peak at some television pictures being broadcast from Washington, D. C., the other night . . . the artists looked like members of the House of David baseball team . . . a peculiarity in television transmission caused by reflections and shadows in the studio . . .

Uncle Tobias had his pencil sharpened yesterday . . . and figured that NBC and CBS combined emanated a total of 1,326,112,890 words in the last 12 months . . . enough to keep Floyd Gibbons busy 24 hours a day for the next 161 days.

Ho, Ho! NBC's "Atlantic Ocean" was smashed yesterday by a falling harp, and all programs calling for ocean effects have to change to the desert or other scenery until carpenters put it together again. . . .

There's a prospective market of 30,000,000 homes for radio set builders, and radio is the one industry that America is counting on to overcome the depression, said Dr. Julius Klein in his radio talk the other night. Radio has a potential audience of 1,000,000,000, declared Dr. Klein.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Now it is a speakeasy that is blocking the progress of Radio City. Well, if it isn't one thing, it's another. Nice big hole in the ground is Radio City—or do you prefer Rockefeller City?—today; nice big hole surrounding speakeasy owned, according to legal papers, by John Doe and Richard Roe.

Doe and Roe have been in every other kind of business in America. It's time they came also to the business, or art, of quaffing the thirst. It may be that Doe and Roe are out for revenge. As the most representative of racketeers, they have been shamefully neglected by the radio caliphs. Not only are they never heard on the air, but seldom are the tunes that come to mind where men are lawbreakers given to the microphones.

And so the speakeasy has struck back. In a big vital spot. The fulfillment of radio's destiny is held up until Doe and Roe say "yes." And say what you may about them they cannot be called yes men. Of course, diplomacy, dollar diplomacy, will prevail in the end. Until then, by permission of the copyright owners, the professor will play the Stein Song.

* * *

King Prajadhipok—wonder how the composing room likes that name—finally leaves us laden down with radio sets. They say he picked up a dozen different styles, ranging from the tiniest of the new midgets to the swankiest of the new consoles. Just as Americans buy gloves and perfumes and liquors when visiting abroad, so foreigners—Siam's king is only one of thousands—who go in for radio sets in visiting America. Yet, they do clutter up one's baggage.

* * *

Nice tribute Ruby A. Black, Washington correspondent, paid on the air the other night to Eleanor Medill Patterson, editor of the Washington Herald. Miss Black who began her talk by declaring that the toughest part of a woman's work in Washington journalism is to get a job, said that Mrs. Patterson "has increased the circulation of that paper notably and has had the acumen to draw to her standard several clever newspaper women and men."

Furniture Sales Are Ahead of Last Year

In Spite of Lower Price Levels, Sales To Date Are Substantially Ahead of Last Year

Naturally, we are gratified that last year's successful sale has been eclipsed by the hearty response accorded to this year's sale. We attribute this gain, not alone to the prevailing low prices, but to the fact that we have assembled the largest collection of correctly styled furniture in the store's history.

Furniture assembled in harmonious groupings that suggest pleasant ways to use it in your own home. See, especially, the ECONOMY GROUP—three completely furnished rooms at a total cost of $670. See, also, the BUDGET GROUP—four completely furnished rooms at only $1285. The Breakfast Nook ($128.90 complete with curtains, drapes and 6x9 rug) is pictured here.

PERHAPS IT'S JUST as well that the Pirates' shutout drive has been terminated. They can now concentrate on the winning of games without regard to the score. There's a time when the keeping up of a streak or the pursuit of a record becomes a strain, and it doesn't hurt a club or an individual power to be free of it. At that, the Bucs did pass one mark before they were stopped, as in piling up 45 consecutive innings they beat Cleveland's total of 41 made 28 years ago and registered the closest approach to their own 1903 world record of 56 blank innings. So they now hold both the best and the second best records of that kind ever made in the majors. But the principal thing is that they won 15 of their last 21 games up to today. To keep up that advance is the main idea.

IN BUILDING HIS ... chine Connie Mack ... the old baseball ... stronger than ... Dykes as well as ... up. The A's have been pretty much in nothing had happened.

And that's mentioning only the pres... The Marksmen have been deprived of ... services of regular players so often since the campaign opened that they have been able to present their best lineup intact not quite 30 per cent of the time. Yet look where they are.

THE REMARKABLE RESERVE ... particularly ... was tough enough ... the real test did not come until the second series.

Bishop was ... Then Boley was hurt and ... Foxx went ... Then ...

THAT LEFT ONLY one regular, Foxx, in the infield and he was out of position, and with Haas gone from the outfield only two of the seven regular posts were filled by their customary occupants. It was a home run by one of the subs, Todt, that gave the A's the winning tally. In winning two games from their strongest rival in one afternoon under such conditions the White Elephants gave the season's most convincing evidence of their remarkable reserve power.

THE THREE ... nera over Roberto ... line with general expectations and ... ability that ... opponents.

Guessing the outcome of Carnera's fights will continue to be easy until he is made to abandon the push over racket and meet some of the Loughrans, Striblings, Schaafs, Walkers and others who are available. An attempt had been made to paint Roberti as one foeman who would give Primo some trouble, but you may always depend on it that the men who are making Carnera's matches for him know what they're doing. That they were aware just how slightly Roberti was to be feared was tipped off by their action in booking Primo to meet Armando Decarlos in Wilmington a couple of nights later.

Maxie Rosenbloom

FOR THAT REASON, Rosenbloom provided he is at his best, will have a slight edge when he defends his championship against Slattery in Brooklyn tonight. But it's one of those fights on which you can only make a wild guess. Neither principal can be depended on at any time to be in top form, as both have continually disregarded the training rules. Slattery is said to have changed his ways during the last six months, but according to reports Rosenbloom has continued to do his training at the night clubs. Some day the gay life will cost Maxie his title, but the time of that happening will not be known in advance. Perhaps it will occur tonight, but Rosenbloom has kept going successfully for so long in spite of a pace that would have stopped the average fighter that you've got to count him as likely to continue coming through until he has actually failed.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY.—MRS. VAUGHN HAD 67 HUSBANDS.—On December 18, 1922 Mrs. Theresa Vaughn, 32 years old, was arraigned in Sheffield, England, on a charge of bigamy. At the court hearing, Mrs. Vaughn confessed to 61 bigamous marriages while her legal husband was still living. She had 67 husbands scattered over the territories of Great Britain, Holland and Germany, all of whom she had married within a period of five years.

The ... game ... fell ... with ... Pirates ... with ... league ... Reds ... in a ... bill. The athletics will swing into action at 2 o'clock and it is likely the fans will see some fine baseball as both clubs are apt to ... to a high pitch.

Larry French and Remy Kremer are due to tangle with Flint Rhem and Burleigh Grimes. The doubleheader will bring the series to a close.

STREAK ENDED

A bit of loose play in the infield and a double from the bat of George Watkins in the sixth inning broke the tattoo spell the Pittsburgh sharpshooters had exercised over their rivals through 45 complete rounds. Heine Meine, who was on the same slab in the sixth round last Wednesday when the shutout streak got under way, was the victim of the tallies after the Prince of Luxembourg had held the Redbirds ... on one hit through five innings. The sixth-inning drive of the Cards gave them the decision. The score was 3 to 1.

It may be that a burst of speed in the heat on the part of Meine was a factor in his collapse of the sixth. One was out and a runner was on first when the Pirate pitcher hit a bounder to Frank Frisch. To frustrate a double shuffle, the pitcher sprinted to first and he then had to go to the mound while he was still unsettled and hot.

Jess Haines, Heinie's worthy foeman, was the ... to face Meine. Jess hit a bounder to the left of Traynor, which Pie would field on many occasion, but the ball eluded his glove for a scratch hit.

Sparky Adams came up to sacrifice, but the result was much worse for the Bucs. Meine had plenty of time to field the ball, but he juggled it long enough to

STAR DECLINES TEAM BERTH

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Zinderstein Jessup, Wilmington, Del., veteran yesterday withdrew from the American Wightman Cup team and officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association soon will ... a right for a substitute.

Mrs. Jessup, whose selection to the team apparently was based largely on her fine showing in the seabright tournament, where she forced Helen Wills Moody to a 6-4, 6-4 score in the semi-finals, said she declined a place on the team because of an old illness and because she thought some one else would better aid the American cause.

No announcement of a substitute has been forthcoming, but it is regarded as likely in some quarters that Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, would get the place.

Don to Go After Record at Toronto

TORONTO, Aug. 5 (AP)—Kaye Don, holder of the world speedboat record, has advised Canadian exhibition authorities he will make an attempt to better his mark of 110.223 miles an hour during the national exhibition here August 28 to September 12.

Don will use his record-breaking boat, Miss England II, in which he set the new mark on Lake Garde, Italy, a few weeks ago.

Long Putt Gives Tommy Armour Tie

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 5 (AP)—Tommy Armour, British open and United States professional champion, sank a 45-foot putt for an eagle three on the eighteenth hole yesterday after an amazing 36-hole performance to save himself from defeat by an 18-year-old school boy amateur.

That putt gave him a tie with Charles Kocsis, of Detroit, the young amateur, in the Michigan open tournament, each having a score of 288 for 72 holes, even par for the Cascade course. It gave Armour a 69 for the afternoon round, duplicating his morning score and wiping out the unfortunate start of 79 in the first round of the tournament.

JOHNNY DOEG DEFEATED

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 5 (AP)—Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., ranked sixth on the United States tennis list for 1930, today defeated his fellow townsman, John Hope Doeg, national champion and No. 1, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0, in the quarter-finals of the annual Meadow Club tournament.

The defeat was the third for Doeg in his last three tournaments. Ellsworth Vines, Jr., 19-year-old Pasadena (Cal.) player, won from the left-handed champion in the finals of the Longwood and Seabright tournaments.

Doeg admittedly had entered the Southhampton lists in the hope of getting an opportunity to erase these two defeats by the lanky California boy.

Doeg also was beaten by David N. Jones, Columbia University captain, in the New Jersey championships, his first tournament of the year.

Mangin's victory placed him in the upper-half semi-final ... he will meet the winner ... match between the inter-... champion, Keith Gledhill, and the 1930 college king, Cliff Sutter.

BOBBY JONES' Lessons in Golf

By Robt. Yoemans.

[1-3] American Champion and Former U. S. and British Open and British Amateur Titleholder

As disappointing as it may be in particular instances it is certainly a fact that a vast number of young aspiring golfers fail to live up to the promise which they show in their early years. In almost every city even in almost every club there will be found one or more youngsters who are regarded as golf prodigies. I do not think I have visited out of town a single time within the past year or so without having one of these young hopes of golf pointed out to me. I always hate to think of the disappointment which is in store for most of them and for those who are interested in their progress. Some of course will justify all the hopes that they now cherish but the vast majority will get only so far and no farther.

The other day I was talking with Charley Hall president of the Professional Golfers Association about this very thing. Charley has had years of experience in teaching and in the various cities of the South he has seen an number of youngsters make their start. I asked him how he would explain the thing which happens to these young men which stops them in mid-career.

Bobby Jones

FEW MAKE THE GRADE

Of course in any sport or business there can only be a few to whose lot it will fall to be outstanding. That is just the nature of things. But I was interested in finding out what made the difference between the great and the near-great.

"I have seen any number of young players," said Hall, "who progress very satisfactorily, even amazingly well, up to a certain point. Being young when they start, they get the hang of the game very quickly and soon they are able to accomplish astounding things considering their years. In other words, they get through what I should call the elementary stage of golf very well. Their swings look good and they apparently possess sound methods.

"But beyond this stage, which they reach more or less readily, there is the realm of advanced golf, which it is necessary to enter in order to win championships, and the difference here seems to be more on the mental side than anywhere else. I always look at a man who has done something in golf with the idea of trying to find out what it is that makes him better than some other fellow who may on occasions hit the ball just as well, and this is the way it seems to me:

NEED CONCENTRATION

"The elementary golfer, I think, is more mechanical. He is trying to think through his whole stroke, from the instant his club leaves the ball, going back until he has seen it on its way. The advanced golfer seems to me to have established for himself the proper hitting position, and, when he is under the strain of competition, I think he dismisses from his mind all thought of the backswing or anything which comes before he gets himself into this hitting position and he concentrates so intensely upon the very act of hitting the ball that he is able to do things under stress that are entirely beyond the other fellow's powers."

It seems to me that there can be no question that there is this difference in concentrative power among golfers of almost equal mechanical ability, and that this is one of the most important factors in tournament play. To my way of thinking what we call courage in golf competition, the ability to cope, though under pressure, means nothing more nor less than the ability to concentrate on making the shot in spite of the important issues which may hang in the balance.

Lots of times we think we are concentrating on the shot when we are doing nothing but worrying over what may happen if we miss it. The concentration which is important is the concentration upon hitting the ball correctly.

I do not know whether the characteristic of the successful competitor which Charley Hall thinks he has noticed really exists. I am inclined to think it does. At any rate, it is another and very interesting attempt to identify that elusive something which we have been accustomed to call the "competitive spark."

Aliquippa Golfer Scores Hole in One

P. C. Ewarts, of the Aliquippa Golf Club, became a member of the mythical Hole-in-One Club yesterday at the Oakmont Country Club, when his tee-shot on No. 13 went into the cup. The distance is 184 yards. Ewarts was playing with George Hoffman, R. H. Hussey and Billy Bullwinkle, pro at the Aliquippa club.

GIRLS' SWIM TODAY

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., Aug. 5.—A number of girls 20 years of age and under will participate in the first Girls' Lake Beach mile swim here today. The girls will start from the pier, go around a boat in the middle of the lake, and finish at the starting line. The first three finishers will be awarded places.

KARL BEILSTEIN, WALD BATTLE FEATURE

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Inter-park series competition, climax of festivities in the seventh annual Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Pittsburgh Public Park tennis championships, reached the local racquet limelight this afternoon.

Promptly at 2 o'clock Dorothy Miller, Highland Park contender, and her Park namesake, Jeanette Miller, stepped to the line on the Burly-ground Park hot to head the park side in the bout-sketch leading to the Steel City municipal title. Jeanette Miller, Mens and Women's Singles Park Champion, and trip to the National Public Parks championships at Detroit the week after next at Pittsburgh, matched wits and tennis ability with Dorothy Beilstein of Wald.

BEILSTEIN-WALD CLASH

Two hours after the six-Miller affair, Karl Beilstein, standout of West Park, was to tie up with Harry Wald, who has represented in the Schenley-Frick net circuit by failure of Irene Kaufmann, Park champion, to defend the honors that he attained in 1930. Joe Cohen, Wald first, Redmond Highland pair, after Billy Creighton of Olympia Heights, while simultaneously Mildred Kluge, West Park women and Lenita Schmidt, Schenley netter, and number-eight in Miss Jessup Attempts for the city crown a year ago are shown in Carnegie.

The main matches will be best of five sets with the women's contenders of course being limited to the best of three. Austin Fox, manager and president of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association and member of the Public Parks Tennis Committee will have charge of the inter-park matches.

Spectators of this afternoon's and evening's engagements will be called upon for further action tomorrow. The Miller-Miller winners will take on Mrs. Arthur Pittsburgh representative in the national debates at Washington, D. C., last summer. This match will include the Thursday program with 2 o'clock as the zero hour. At 4 o'clock Frank Brooks, 1930 Pittsburgh public links champion and sixteenth ranking municipal satellite in the field, will square off against either Beilstein or Wald.

FRIDAY REST DAY

The dinner-time slate again calls for two fixtures, both getting under way at 6 o'clock. In the man-to-man division the fortunate party to the Redmond-Creighton imbroglio will tempt the fates against Al McCorkle of Riverview, while Ruth Staiger, likewise carrying the colors of the upper North Side area, will clash with Miss Schmidt or Miss Klages. Friday will be a day of rest for those who forge to the finals, unless bad weather should wreck the mixing today or tomorrow.

The wind-up seance, featuring in addition to the parks prize getogethers, special exhibitions including outstanding club netters of the district, will be started at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday.

Says Nick Altrock

Baseball's Comedian

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—If you are inclined thinking that Jimmie Foxx, the depression bat lifter, sure will get a decent ballsalary when they are cut, the road will be quiet boy and all Bobo Holloman can swallow is Marietta. Ingersoll and Charley Chaplin.

When the Yanks drop in for a series it's like the circus coming to town. Everybody wants to see Holloman. Even baseball writers want to see Holloman.

Babe Ruth came to the ball park to see the baseball but he prefers to be in the thick of it. Every time Babe is with the ball club he is the center of attraction. Babe is worth the price of admission, after he's out of baseball.

Protector Captures Grand Circuit Trot

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 5 (AP.)—Protector, fleet pacing colt from the stable of Harry I. Keeler, Auburn, N. Y., captured the American Horse Breeders' Cup for 3-year-old trotters, feature of the opening day of the 1931 Hartford Grand Circuit at Charter Oak here yesterday, clinching his victory in straight heats.

Protector, reined by Will Caton, led Nedda Guy, the great Keeler stable flash, to the finish in both heats.

Calumet Adam, driven by Pop Egan, won the 2.07 class pace, which proved to be the fastest three-heat race of the season. Calumet Astor won the class for trot in three straight heats and Brevere, reined by Pop White, won both heats of the American Horse Breeder Futurity for 2-year-old trotters.

Brother Athletes To Enroll at Pitt

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 5.—The Wisniewski brothers of Weston, noted athletes, Victor and Louie—announced today they would attend Pitt University this fall and be candidates for the freshman football team. It was generally believed they would go to West Virginia.

Victor earned the position of quarterback on the all-state team last fall and during his high school days scored 299 points for Weston. Louie, two years younger, also is a crack football player.

ELMER YOTER TRADED

COLUMBUS, Aug. 5 (AP.)—Archie Campbell and Elmer Yoter, of the Columbus American Association team, have been traded to the Boston Braves for Pitcher Max Berger and Catcher William Nagurski, it was announced yesterday by President J. CARNERA WINS BY KNOCKOUT

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 5 (AP.)—Primo Carnera, Italian giant, stopped Roberto Roberti, also of Italy, in the third round of their scheduled 10-round bout at Dreamland Park here last night. Carnera weighed 274 pounds, Roberti 224.

A crowd of about 15,000 saw Carnera give Roberti a sound thrashing and floor him four times before Referee Gene Rosaire stepped in to save Roberti from further punishment in the third round.

Carnera looked impressive all the way, but there was no reason why he shouldn't against an opponent that landed hardly half a dozen solid blows. Roberti was a target for Primo's heavy smashes and made only a few feeble gestures on his own behalf.

STOCK MARKET KEPT UNDER PRESSURE

Cheerless Reports of Raw Steel Output and Freight Movement Hurt Shares

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(AP.)—Cheerless reports on the volume of raw steel production and the movement of railway freight kept security markets under pressure today.

Trading in stocks was extremely dull, but there was no letup in the slow decline which endured through most of the previous session. The foreign outlook was clouded by fresh weakness of the British pound sterling although in Germany the cooperation of the banks for full payment of deposits went off surprisingly well.

In the share market American Telephone was conspicuously weak, declining nearly 4 points before it met support.

Losses of a point or more appeared in Westinghouse Electric, United States Steel, General Motors, Pennsylvania and Anaconda.

In connection with selling of American Telephone there have been some bearish rumors in brokerage circles over the dividend, but the Associated Press learned authoritatively that no reduction in the annual $9 rate has been considered and that earnings are holding above requirements. Unless next year should prove unexpectedly bad there is said to be not even a remote prospect of action. Directors meet in a fortnight.

The rail issues were depressed by the weekly freight car loadings report for the period ended July 25 showing a decline of 15,803 cars from the preceding week to a total of 741,752 cars. This is a reduction of 360,501 from the high level of the like week two years ago.

The weekly steel trade review reported that ingot production, which had stepped up from 30 to 32 per cent of capacity in the previous week, was edging more back to 30 per cent, the low level of the depression. It also pointed out that full operations by automobile manufacturers, as anticipated, did not materialize and the resumption of full shot seems receding. The operations for August can hardly be called encouraging.

Because dividends have been reduced on such old favorites as United States Steel and New York Central, some brokers state that the investing public has become unduly nervous over all dividends. General Motors directors meeting after the close of today's market are expected in usually well-informed quarters to make the regular quarterly payment, and there is believed to be no immediate prospect of curtailment of the General Electric dismissement.

LONDON STAGES LATE RALLY

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(INS.)—Stock prices were depressed on the London Stock Exchange today due to the sharp fall in the price of pounds sterling on the foreign exchange market.

Sterling dropped from a closing price of $4.85 23-32 of yesterday to $4.84⅞ at noon today, but later rallied when Paris interests started a heavy buying movement in sterling.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—All German private banks reopened today for all normal business. There were no disturbances of any kind and withdrawals were modest.

Government authorities and the bankers were astonished and overjoyed with the situation.

P.R.R. LOADINGS UP FOR WEEK

Total cars handled by the Pennsylvania Railroad system for the week ended August 1 were 118,859, against 116,145 last week and with 142,753 last year. From January 1 cars handled were 3,604,497, against 4,595,295 in the same 1930 period.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—New York Central carloadings in the week ended August 1 totaled 53,456 cars against 51,404 in the week preceding and 64,052 in the like week last year.

Parke Davis to Get Company in Detroit

DETROIT, Aug. 5.—Parke-Davis Company stockholders on August 21 will vote on a plan to acquire the outstanding stock of the Bay Company, which manufactures and distributes surgical dressings to retail and wholesale drug trade and hospitals.

DIVIDEND NEWS

Paragon Refining

Paragon Refining Company declared a liquidating dividend of $1 on the common stock, payable on presentation of certificates after August 10 at the Fifth Third Union Trust Company, of Cincinnati, or Guardian Trust Company, of Cleveland. This is the third dividend to be paid on the common and increases the payments to $13 per share. The refinery plants were taken over by Gulf Oil Corporation last year.

Sterling Securities

Sterling Securities Corporation declared action on the dividend on the $1.20 preference stock at this time. The regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents was declared on the convertible first preferred, stock, payable September 1 to record of August 15.

COTTON CONFAB ENDED

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 5.—(AP.)—The South's cotton crop conservation conferees were en route home today, most of them determined to set in immediate motion a movement aimed to bring about the passage of laws to curtail production.

The two-day southside cotton conference called by Gov. Ross S. Sterling, of Texas, ended late yesterday.

Leaders likewise rededicated themselves to their work of finding new outlets for the South's main crop. A campaign of advertising the possible uses of cotton was suggested by T. Arthur Edwards, of Lake Charles, La., personal representative of the Governor of Louisiana.

A resolution putting the group on record as favoring laws to enforce cotton acreage reduction was adopted. Another resolution appealed to the Federal Farm Board to make one of its objectives the finding of more markets.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The White House has received a number of protests from southern senators against the proposed sale of cotton by the Federal Farm Board to Germany on long term credit, it was said today. The protests were referred to the Farm Board.

Allis-Chalmers Backlog Declines

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Unfilled orders of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company as of July 31 totaled $9,001,000, compared with $9,032,000 on June 30 and $15,699,000 as of July 31, last year.

Bank of Chile Cuts Rediscount Rate

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The Central Bank of Chile has reduced its rediscount rate 1 per cent, making the rate for banks 8 per cent and for the public 9 per cent.

Wheat Carryover Above Year Ago

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—World wheat carryover on July 1 is unofficially estimated at over 670,000,000 bushels compared to 563,000,000 bushels a year ago.

GRAINS REACH FRESH LOWS

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Much lower Liverpool wheat quotations than expected led early today to sharp new setbacks in grain prices here, with wheat, corn and oats futures reaching fresh bottom levels. Liverpool reported heavy offerings of all descriptions of wheat, with Russian and Danubian prices lashed. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼ cent to ⅝ cent down, the Chicago wheat market afterward showed very little power to rally. Corn started ½ cent off and later continued to ease.

All Chicago factor deliveries of wheat quickly ousted the season's bottom prices and September wheat reached an all-time low. The volume of transactions both in wheat and other cereals was decidedly larger than has recently been the rule. Attention focused altogether on advices from Liverpool, where the market was described as very weak, with particularly to selling pressure from Southeastern Europe.

Says Some Lines Passed Low Point

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The extreme low point of the depression definitely has been passed in certain lines of industry, standard Statistics Company says. Distinct improvement already is evident in the automobile tire, beet sugar producing, flour milling and textile trades. Second quarter reports generally have been less worse than previously expected and in some instances have shown unexpected betterment.

Prairie Pipe Line Deliveries Higher

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., Aug. 5.—(AP.)—The Prairie Pipe Line Company deliveries for July were announced as 2,626,496.91 barrels, or a daily average of 84,725.77, compared to 2,145,395.36 barrels in June.

Trade With Russia Doubled in June

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Exports of American goods to Russia totaled $12,618,056 in June, compared with only $5,361,879 in May and $8,805,642 in June, 1930, the Commerce Department reports.

INCREASES SHOWN

It points

"The fact that the steel industry has recently fallen to a profitless level should not be allowed to obscure the fact that consumption goods such as textiles, shoes and tires are showing decided improvement. Rather the fact that the steel business has fallen to such a level would indicate that the excess has been about completed.

"It was the textiles and shoes that led the way out of the depression of 10 years ago and they seem in a fair way to do so now. It is quite possible that these and other lines of business catering directly to consumption needs, such as food companies, chain stores and merchandising companies, will show a substantial increase in profit before there is any distinct change for the better in the steel and allied industries."

CHAPTER XXXV

"Crying won't help now, Katie," Viola said after she had watched me for a moment as I tried to control myself.

"It is only nerves and I realize ... Viola's accusing attitude was more than I could stand. I decided to tell her just what had happened.

Synopsis

Katherine Mason, who believes in playing around and having a good time, jilts Peter Thompson because he is poor. She expects to marry rich Thad Parsons, but Thad marries Arline Sargent instead. Katherine becomes fond of Forrest Malvern, an old friend of Dolly Hawkins, who has disappeared. Thad wants to divorce Arline. Arline offers Kitty a huge sum of money to testify falsely against Thad. At the trial, however, Kitty tells the truth, and Thad is cleared. She promises to leave Paris and go to his apartment at midnight to see it. In the building, on her way to see Forrest, an old scrub woman warns Kitty to stay away from him. Kitty goes to the woman's poor quarters to hear her story and is amazed when she proves to be Dolly's mother. The woman says that Dolly ended her life in the river. Kitty does not visit Forrest. Believing that she did, Viola rebukes Kitty.

The little girl on the right and in pajamas, which conceals pretty a pair of legs as you ever saw, wonders why Uncle Sam helps everybody but her.

Some others also wonder. She is wearing pajamas to conceal her increasing maigre—look up that word.

Fortunately there is no law against wondering. It is one of the few things you are still allowed to do, and so the little lady goes through life, wondering, ASKING.

The queer little man named "Business Revival" is practicing his tightrope walking on a clothesline. If he doesn't get off and attend to business soon, there won't be any clothes to hang on the line.

No matter how patriotic you are, you must admit that some things are queer in our country.

Our Uncle Sam is worrying himself to death about countries that have a million idle men, when he has six or eight millions of them here at home.

He is worrying about the so called "busted nations of Europe," with his own Wall Street friends shedding tears as big as your fist, and the steel trust cutting dividends.

However, he is probably doing his best, like the musicians in the Western town, so be kind to him.

Eternal Verities

FRANCE DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

CANNES, Aug. 5.—This is a jewel city. Paris by the sea and the beginner of the Riviera that is the Riviera of awakening hotels, millionaires and their pajamas, fast life, pseudo-aristocracy and a dumping ground for scandal-outcast royalty from all points of the compass.

While not so international a high spot as Monte Carlo it nevertheless offers a making of races. This morning on the Croisette the promenade I saw a Maharajah in all his trappings, an Egyptian in Bond street clothes and his fraulein wife in native veils, a bearded turbaned Moroccan and an American newsboy.

But chiefly the crowds are Anglo-American. American bare backs are as thick as flies around molasses. English is spoken everywhere and it is the most vociferous gyp joint in either side of the Atlantic. The clientele is mostly sage whose ideas of life are fixed while gambling and rubbing shoulders with mauve royalty.

In New York we call the same outfit cafe society. No other spot on the Cote d'Azur exacts so much tax impertinence from visitors. Taxis charge what they please and you pay or go to the hoosegow. The whole town is in league to fleece and they ship a wicked pair of shears.

Cannes boasts it garages more Rolls Royces and other luxury cars than any resort in Europe. The concierge tells me an Indian rajah whose yacht is in the harbor has brought 10 cars along for his motoring. That's princely.

What's the matter with a section motoring on the Champs Elysees or Unter den Linden? Natural scenic beauty is being ruined by offensive displays of entertainments. One incidentally on a giant rock between a Doris Moore corn beef and cabbage dinner.

Cannes was the accidental discovery of an English Lord, who fleeing the rigors of a London winter was stopped here on way to Italy by a quarantine. The town was then a mere slump of fishing shacks. The visitor built a villa, found the climate salubrious and voila!—the Riviera was launched.

* * *

Before lunch we motored along a dazzling pine-plumed slope for about 12 miles to Grasse center of French perfume making. Although a lover of perfumes the vivid cantered my nostrils. Five miles away the air was recharged with a heavy and to me funereal fragrance suggesting an undertaking parlor. Yet I got off a good one when I said to my wife: "I would like to turn back. But it's such a nice day you can go to Grasse." Always a quip merry and bright.

* * *

In the neighborhood are 10,000 acres of roses, tuberoses, jasmine, violets, pinks, orange blossoms and such. From the petals various scents are made. Most plants are abandoned monasteries and convents filled with a disarray of unholy workers, filthy with grime and sweat. A few peeks and all that.

Each season a total of 200,000 tons of flower petals are turned into exquisite essence. A cubic tons are often turned for a single liter of the expensive extract. But it was worth the drive when returning we turned abruptly into a plateau that offered the most exciting view seen in Europe. Below was the expanse of aqua marine bay fringed with pearls and studded with red roofs. For hours each way the world's riviera competes with the glitter of the sea in a riotous burst of promise. But you can't really put your faith in immutables more than all the books and sermons. I drove over the Grasse road and determined to be a better boy before dinner and write a long letter to the boss.

But I hopped from the train back at Cannes when I got the bill. Never was so much lavish packed on a small check. For instance: To hand for [illegible] green bed covering, five francs fifty. In turn drank a bed and chop the bedding for that.

Gov. Pinchot's Warning

Let Steps Be Taken Now to Prevent the Riots Threatened For Next Winter.

Forewarned is forearmed.

Gov. Pinchot stated [illegible] address to the officers of the National Guard of Pennsylvania in encampment at Mt. Gretna that he had been told [illegible] and other strike districts growing out of unemployment and [illegible] expected in the Pittsburgh district next winter.

The Governor said [illegible] not hesitate to call out the National Guard, if necessary, to suppress the disorders.

This frank talk [illegible] matter with the guard officers suggests that Pinchot believes the danger to be very real.

And indeed in view of the [illegible] and murders and bombings that have occurred [illegible] strike in the Pittsburgh district this summer, it is hard for any thoughtful person to dismiss the warning as [illegible] serious attention.

The sensible thing under the circumstances is to cast about right now for measures by which the riots may be prevented.

The adjustment of the strikers' grievances would help. Let the coal operators confer with representatives of the United Mine Workers at Washington, as Secretary of Commerce Lamont and Secretary of Labor Doak have suggested.

Gov. Pinchot said he had been told the trouble would be fomented by agitators from other states, and that such persons had already, to his knowledge, attempted to make trouble.

We have no doubt that he refers to the Communistic leaders of the radical National Miners Union, who have been very active in Pittsburgh and the region's [illegible].

It might not be a bad idea for the District Attorney and the Director of Public Safety to have a talk with the Red leaders and find out what their intentions are.

A Political Split

The Independents Would Be Making a Mistake in Allying Themselves with the Lesser Crowd.

A split between James J. Maloney, state secretary of property and supplies, and Cooney Commissioner C. C. McGovern was revealed yesterday by Maloney's endorsement of Senator James J. Coyne's protege, District Attorney Andrew T. Park, for another term.

Maloney and McGovern [illegible] as leaders of the independent movement [illegible] Maloney can hardly expect to be regarded any longer as an independent.

It is reported that differences arose over the progress that the independents were to at least accept an alliance with what is left of Senator M. G. Lenroot's machine. McGovern is said to have set his face [illegible] against such an alliance.

Whatever temporary gain the independents might achieve by the support of the Lenroot machine would eventually be more than offset by a loss of the independent voters' confidence.

The independent voters are not only against the Kline machine and the Armstrong machine and the Coyne machine, but against all machines, because they know that machine politicians are not out to serve the public but to promote their own selfish purposes.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Women believe such amazing nonsense about men. And I'm not now alluding to Giggley Gert of the notion counter or Bashful Bess out in the sticks. I'm referring to smart modern mammas, bachelor working girls, college graduates, brilliant professional stars. One and all, regardless of age, creed, color or condition, females have these notions about males. Namely:

Man is an entirely different animal from woman.

His tastes, attitudes and practices are utterly unlike hers. She has a highly attuned and refined nervous system. He's just put together with rivets.

All men are by nature philanderers—no matter how long they may have been married or how faithfully they may have served the Missus. Just give the Old Boy a chance and he'll turn [illegible]! For the chief and constant desire of the male heart is to Make Some Woman.

But no man is ever fair to a woman, for the whole sex is selfish, [illegible] coarse, unreasonable, stupid, unreliable.

But, in spite of their obvious shortcomings, men think they know everything, and are terrible stuck on themselves, for no good reason at all.

Because of this, any Smart Gal can make a fool of any man without half trying.

Men boast about their strength, but actually they are lost without women.

At heart every man is both a villain and a great, big, helpless baby.

So things being as they are, the only way a Nice Woman can get even with a Horrid Man is to—

Flatter him incessantly.

Never let him know what you're thinking but always make him believe that you're thinking of him.

Be nice to him—when he deserves it, but never too much.

Never do too much for him or he won't appreciate you.

Never let him be too sure of you. Keep him guessing. Don't let him think he's the only one. Play on his jealousy.

Above all, watch him night and day, and never, NEVER give him a chance to put anything over on you.

There, I trust, is what Every Woman thinks of Every Man in her secret heart, and has been thinking for the last thirty million years. And I can't think that a few years of coeducation and equal suffrage are going to put a dent in a tradition like that, can you? Isn't feminine nature. Why is marriage still such a heavy risk, though we've been practicing it for centuries? Why is friendship almost impossible between men and women, and business partnership a continual pain in the neck? That's why. Because women have inherited these idiotic notions from the old days when squaws whipped buffalo meat, grinding hides and hoeing [illegible] back in harems.

But it's time we got over it, sisters. The simple truth is that Man and Woman were molded from the same hunk of mud, endowed with exactly the same emotions. Neither sex has a monopoly on decency or indecency, courage or cowardice, [illegible] sense or nonsense. Men aren't out to get Women any more than women are out to get Men. It flatters our conceit to think they are, gals, but [illegible] of fact we women aren't half as much of a Treat or a Temptation as we think we are. Nine times out of a hundred men get fed up with romance mighty pronto and much prefer a snappy game of poker or a lazy hour of fishing to any Cleopatra that ever sprinkled from a tiger skin.

All of which is the truth, s'help me. But just try to make any Nice Lady believe it. For what's there left to make life exciting for a Nice Lady if you take away all the [illegible]?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

Some hostesses are so anxious that their guests be well fed that they insist upon their eating more than they should.

Usually this sort of hostess will exclaim on occasion: "Why don't you eat so and so?"

Of course the ideal and successful hostess does not draw attention to the fact that a guest does not partake of a certain dish, but many do just that.

Thus they create an embarrassing situation for guests.

Another thing the enthusiastic hostess is inclined to do is to insist upon a second helping of something which has been previously refused.

Under the circumstances the guest feels he must eat a second serving when he does not want it, when perhaps the first serving was more than desired.

Dinner guests should be allowed to choose without any suggestions from a hostess as to what they shall eat and the quantity desired.

There is such a thing as being too hospitable in thought and too zealous in forcing attentions which react in making a guest wish to be elsewhere.

A Poet's Tomb

THIS LOOKS LIKE A PUZZLE PICTURE, BUT ISN'T

Monsieur Viollier, intensely high strung artist, put into this picture all his thoughts and emotions about a dead poet, and an appropriate tomb for him.

It will interest you to work out the meaning of the various emblems and symbols gathered together here.

Such practice does not produce immediate results, but it is a good thing for the imagination and it has been truly said the imagination is all that we possess.

It is imagining that has raised us from the cave man to the air pilot, it has given us the submarine, the sewing machine, the harvesting machine and moving pictures.

First men IMAGINE things, then they MAKE THEM. And next, they USE THEM.

It won't hurt you to exercise your imagination on this picture.

The big heart you recognize at once. It is the poet's heart, which did not go down into the tomb with him, and is still working for the good of mankind although the grease from the candle may be dropping on it.

The lighted candle is intended to show that the poet's flame still burns, although he is cold in the ground among the worms.

The lily, which looks as though it were made of concrete, is, we confess, a little too much for us.

There is no secret about the empty cup. It is put there to show that the poet drained the joy and inspiration of life to the very dregs.

There is nothing puzzling about the portrait with the fancy hair, framed in what looks like a hand mirror.

That is the poet with his eyes closed in death, his beautiful hair without a white thread, his gentle mouth looking as though in infancy it might have "lisp'd in numbers, for the numbers came."

The tree that has grown up through the tomb, making a hole in solid marble, is a little puzzling. It, perhaps, means the genius of the poet struggling back into the warm sunshine. But why should the limbs be clipped off?

And that curious contrivance close to the poet's right cheek, what does THAT mean?

It looks like an ingeniously devised crown of thorns, one with the spikes pointing upward, and a nice smooth foundation so arranged that the crown could be worn without causing any hurt.

You have no idea how many real poets are around you, or you haven't the slightest conception of how many millions of geese there are who THINK they are poets and waste their time in rhyming.

There is no greater bore than the imitation poet with

"Fire in each eye, and papers in each hand,
They rave, recite, and madden round the land."

Pope, a clever poet, although not a great one, wrote that, and he also wrote

"Is there a parson much bemused in beer,
A maudlin poetess, a rhyming peer,
A clerk foredoom'd his father's soul to cross,
Who pents a stanza when he should engross."

It should be remembered, however, that while the would-be poet, lacking all poetry, is a nuisance, the real poet is a blessing to the human race, leaving behind him treasures that never fade or lose their value.

Men that died in Greece more than 2,000 years ago still stimulate and educate the brains of intelligent men.

It is impossible to exaggerate the value to the human race of such a giant as Shakespeare, or of such true poets as Wordsworth, Shelley, Keats, or the great French poet Villon.

Therefore, respect poets, including those that are not yet great, for they may become great later.

Read Shelley and Keats, and as a matter of course have a volume of Shakespeare at your elbow, always.

Many of us do not appreciate poetry, being too busy with baseball and money.

But the average man may say of poetry what the Scotchman said when he was sick on a rough lake: "It's sickening to be sick, but it's good for you."

Poetry is good for you. Read a lot of it.
